KANSAS CITY GETS G.O.P. CONVENTION

American Business 'Healthy,' Declares Treasury Chief

INDUSTRY ON SOUND BASIS, SAYS MELLON

MELLON The nation's business is in a "healthy" condition, according to the annual report of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon, submitted to congress today.

Wages Are Higher, Prices Lower, Annual Report To Congress Points Out

TRADE VOLUME BIGGER Commerce Volume Large, Commodity Rates Show Drop; Bank Loans Gain

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—America's wave of prosperity has receded somewhat, bringing the business of the country back to "normal expectancy" with sound underlying fundamentals. Secretary of Treasury Mellon reported to congress today.

War Cost To U. S. Was 48 Billion

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The World War cost the United States nearly $48,000,000,000, Secretary of Treasury Mellon estimated today.

1. "A large volume of business was done simultaneously with declining commodity prices—an unusual combination of circumstances."

SENATE REFUSES OATH TO FRANK SMITH; CONGRESS PRESENTED BUDGET FOR 1928

$4,258,793,765 Appropriations Are Asked by President

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—President Coolidge today presented congress with America's greatest peace time budget. The president requested appropriations of $4,258,793,765 for the fiscal year 1928, or about $200,000,000 more than the budget for the current fiscal year.

He stressed the importance of a "balanced budget" and warned congress against cutting taxes beyond a safe margin. A tax reduction greater than $225,000,000 might "jeopardize our financial stability," he said.

Increased appropriations were urged for national defense. An appropriation of $362,167,020 was asked for the navy department and $398,823,143 for the war department.

Causes Speculation The president's message caused some speculation apropos his intentions as to naval increase. He noted that "the estimates carry $45,000,000 for increase of the navy."

Under construction in 1927 will comprise two submarines and eight cruisers of which two will be practically completed in 1929—the Pensacola and Salt Lake City.

He also noted that ample funds are provided for modernization of the battleships Oklahoma and Nevada and for the third increment of the five-year air program and for the huge airship for which congress already has appropriated $200,000.

The army program contemplates a regular army of 118,750 men with 12,000 officers; 30,000 trainees for the citizens' military training camp; 15,725 trainees in the organized reserve; 125,000 cadets in the reserve officers' training corps and a national guard of 188,000 men.

Reed Committee Authorized To Try Solon-Elect From Illinois

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The senate today refused to permit Senator-elect Frank L. Smith, Republican, Illinois, to take the oath of office and authorized the Reed investigating committee to try him for spending $458,000 in his primary election.

A resolution calling for this action was adopted as changed by its author, Senator George W. Norris, Republican, Nebraska.

Under its terms, Smith will have the privilege of the floor and the doors will not be closed in his face. He may present his case to Reed investigating committee and the committee can go into any further evidence it desires.

The action was not as conclusive as had been planned because Smith's proponents had contended he had not been given a fair trial. The resolution permits such trial now.

Its passage followed a vote rejecting a resolution by Senator Deneen, Illinois, to seat Smith.

On the Norris resolution the vote was: Ayes, 53; nays, 28.

An amendment, which would have authorized the privileges and elections committee instead of the Reed committee to hear Smith and investigate the matter, was defeated 29 to 55.

The resolution to allow Smith the oath was proposed by the Smith leader, Senator Deneen, Illinois. It reads as follows:

"Resolved that whereas Smith has presented his credentials in due and proper form without expressing any opinion as to his right to his seat or the propriety of retaining his

M'BRIDE SCORES IN DRY LEAGUE BATTLE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Forces of General Superintendent F. Scott McBride scored a victory in the fight to gain control of the Anti-Saloon league today, when they defeated William M. Forgrave, state superintendent of the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon league, for a place on the national executive committee.

Forgrave has been one of McBride's most active opponents and was said to have been defeated because of his insistence that demands be made upon the political parties for the insertion of dry planks in the party platforms.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS COUNCIL IS AGREED

GENEVA, Dec. 7.—The big five in the League of Nations council—British, French, German, Italian and Japanese delegates—today reached a tentative agreement expected to remove the threat of war between Poland and Lithuania that had existed since Poland seized the Vilna territory from Lithuania seven years ago.

The agreement provided: Abolition of the formal state of war that had existed between Poland and Lithuania since the seizure.

Revival of diplomatic and consular relations between the two countries.

After adoption of the tentative proposal by the "big five" the council began formal discussion of the Polish-Lithuanian dispute. Lithuania was represented by Premier Voldemaras and Poland by Foreign Minister Zaleski.

Proceed With Plan For New School Here

Express Fear That District Project Might Lead to Embarrassment

THE SANTA ANA board of education today is definitely committed to a policy of proceeding at once with plans for securing a site and buildings for a new junior college here. It will not participate in the projected county junior college district. The body voted unanimously at its session last night to proceed on this basis.

J. J. A. Cranston, superintendent of schools, and George Dunton, president of the board of education, issued the following statement today, explaining the board's reasons for this decision:

"At a special meeting of the Santa Ana board of education, held last evening following the meeting of representative citizens with the board to hear a discussion of the plans of two experts to make a school survey, the board voted unanimously to proceed with plans for the development of a new site and buildings for a Santa Ana junior college. This action of the board was decided upon because of the growing crowded condition of the existing high school building resulting from having the senior high school and junior college to

GRAND JURY WILL INDICT JULIAN MEN

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—District Attorney Asa Keyes today began to draw up three indictments for the request of the grand jury for all the members of the three Julian Petroleum corporation pools.

Keyes is following out the request made by the jury late yesterday, following a long and heated session. The jurors finally decided to indict all connected with the Julian crash.

District Attorney Keyes is said to have warned the jury that to indict those whose cases already had been dismissed on lack of evidence might seriously jeopardize his chances to convict those actually responsible for the oil company's fall.

HOOPER BOOM IMPENDING; WILLIS ENTERS RUNNING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Senator Willis, Ohio, Republican, entered the lists today as a receptive presidential candidate for 1928. Meantime the United Press learned reliably that a definite boom for Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover for president will be started within four to six weeks by his friends.

These two outstanding developments in the national political situation followed closely on President Coolidge's pronouncement to Republican national committeemen late yesterday that they should "vigorously continue the serious task of selecting another candidate from among the members of the distinguished men available."

Announcement Last Night Willis' announcement came last night.

"If the Republicans of Ohio feel that I can creditably represent them as their candidate in the forthcoming national convention, I shall feel it a great honor to do so," he said.

This statement was similar to the one by Senator Curtis, Republican floor leader in the senate, and it made the avowed candidates for 1928 Willis and Curtis, with Frank Lowden, of Illinois, gener-

HUGHES AGAIN ASSERTS HE IS NOT CANDIDATE

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Charles Evans Hughes, often mentioned as a possible presidential candidate, today issued a statement saying he was not a candidate "in any sense" and that he was "keenly disappointed" over President Coolidge's refusal to run.

Hughes previously had disavowed seeking the presidency. The statement, issued from Hughes' office here, said:

"In answer to inquiries as to his attitude toward candidacy for the presidency, Mr. Hughes said today: 'I am not a candidate in any sense. I am keenly disappointed by President Coolidge's decision, but so far as my own attitude toward candidacy is concerned, I stand by the statement I made last May. I have nothing to add to it.'"

'HOT MAMA' CASE IS GIVEN TO JURY

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—Twelve more males filed out of a jury box here today to decide whether the 27 chorines of the "Hot Mama" show gave an artistic performance or merely a vulgar display in the nude.

In a fiery burst of oratory, the defense closed its case resorting to scriptural quotations in scoring the police and two ministers who were the principal witnesses against the chorus girls, arrested on charges of giving a lewd performance.

"Evil to him who evil thinks," and "to the pure all things are pure," Attorney Ford, making the closing argument for the defense, declared and added that the Rev. "Fighting Bob" Shuler and the Rev. Gustav Breigleb were against any form of dancing unless the participants "wore Mother Hubbards."

Ships Ineffective If Guns Are Not Elevated, Claim

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Opening the fight for appropriations to elevate guns on the battleships Nevada and Oklahoma, Representative Britten, Republican, Illinois, today declared in the house that the vessels would be ineffective in battle unless the guns are raised.

"With their superior speed and their gun elevation, the British battleships would blow us out of the sea," he declared, urging the $640,000 appropriation recommended by President Coolidge.

The appropriation committee had cut the income from the urgent deficiency bill which the house took up today.

DETROIT FAR BEHIND Tie Is Broken When Delegation from Connecticut Swings to Missouri

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Kansas City, Mo., was awarded the 1928 Republican National convention. The Republican National committee made the decision on the twentieth ballot today.

Kansas City polled 58 votes, six more than needed to win. San Francisco polled 39 votes on the 20th ballot, Chicago one and Detroit four on this ballot.

Announcement by Chairman Butler that the convention would be held in Kansas City next June was received with wild cheers by the committeemen and women.

Committeemen Croker, California, who led the fight for San Francisco, moved that the selection be made unanimous and the committee adopted the resolution with applause.

It was announced that the convention will open in Kansas City June 12, at 11 o'clock.

The break came in the deadlock when Connecticut swung her two votes to Kansas City. Montana, which had supported San Francisco through 19 ballots, gave one vote to Kansas City and West Virginia, Idaho and Vermont swung in with one each.

subject to cancellations, and unreasonable speculation in commodities, and a spirit of caution prevailed generally among business men.

5. "Automobile production continued at a pace somewhat reduced from the year before, and dangers of a serious slump have been lessened as demands for replacements are now sufficient to absorb about half of the year's output.

6. "Competition became more intense and the largest profits were made by those concerns capable of introducing economies or capturing the market by adaptation of the products to the demand.

7. "Charges for the use of fixed capital were reduced both on industrial and government securities and on farm loans.

8. "Banks in the United States increased their loans and investments about $2,000,000,000 at the same time that they reduced somewhat their dependence upon the federal reserve system, due mainly to gold imports and a decline in requirements for currency."

Mellon pointed out the business volume of the year when measured by money value of check payments, was about three per cent larger than in 1926, but he added, "business is not as active as in the month of 1926."

The three exceptions to the increase in business volume were the construction, automobile and iron and steel industries.

Greater industrial efficiency resulted in cutting factory employment two per cent in the year, Mellon continued.

"Profits reported by a selected group of 456 corporations for the first half of the calendar year 1927 showed gains, as compared with 1926, for public utilities, motors and accessories, food and food products, mining and smelting, chemicals and miscellaneous, but losses for oil, steel, machines and machine manufacturing, building supplies and railroads," Mellon reported.

He pointed out commodity prices have been steadily declining since 1925 and during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1927, the drop was 3.5 per cent.

After reviewing the domestic business situation, Mellon said there had been continued improvement in the economic and financial status of important foreign countries.

Mellon reiterated his recommendation to congress for a tax cut of $225,000,000 and legislation for improved administration of the income taxes. Other legislation requested included:

1. Tax exemption for all government securities.
2. Disposition of sequestered alien property and

WILLIS ENTERS RACE; HOOVER BOOM IS SEEN

ally regarded as a candidate and others likely soon to follow Willis' suit. Willis was twice governor of Ohio and succeeded to the senate seat, left by the late President Harding.

The Hoover boom will be launched, probably from New York, in a few weeks. Pointing to his record in public life as a successful engineer on a big scale previous to his work as food administrator, Belgian relief director and secretary of commerce, his friends will ask the nation to support him as a presidential candidate.

The two booms got under way quickly after President Coolidge had "amplified" his choice statement to the Republican national committee.

An hour before the president made the speech, his secretary, Everett Sanders, gave to the press an "add" to his set speech. The set speech contained no allusion to Mr. Coolidge's own hopes or plans, but the additional paragraph said his Rapid City announcement of not choosing to run in 1928 "stands" and "will be respected."

Available For Drafting? Committeemen's views of the president's remarks varied. Many said he was "out" or "through." On the other hand, some said the statement still left him available for "drafting."

Senator Oddie, holding a proxy for Nevada, said Mr. Coolidge had not said he "would not" take the nomination," but Mr. B. Croager, Texas, said "the statement puts him definitely out."

David W. Mulvane, Kansas, said, "He is surely out now," while C. Bascom Slamp, Virginia, the president's former secretary, observed "he does not say he would not accept."

Vice Chairman Hilles thought a president's statement was a clear reaffirmation of his definite declaration that he is not a candidate. Incidentally, Hilles announced he expects to support Charles Evans Hughes, of New York. William H. Crocker, California, said it meant the president as "through" and he announced that he and his entire California delegation are for Hoover.

In connection with revelation of the Hoover boom, it was learned that Hoover intended to remain in the Coolidge cabinet, continuing an important work as chief of the commerce department.

Hoover has undertaken nothing and said nothing that might place him in the position of seeking the presidency.

In the far west Hoover supporters are understood to have already begun some organization work, it elsewhere there is no Hoover organization so far as is known.

Reports to Hoover backers here on his popular strength have encouraged them. They feel he is most popular, though they do not overlook the old repeated suggestion that the old line "machine" politicians may not regard him too heartily.

To Be Based On Record The campaign to be made for Hoover will be based largely on his record in public and private life. He headed the Belgian relief work during the war; was American food administration chief and served in the Harding and Coolidge cabinets as secretary of commerce. Before entering public service, he was engaged in engineering and did much work in China. He is a Californian.

the second year increment in the five year building program calling for 1500 airplanes at the end of 1932 and a $2,000,000 increase over the 1928 appropriation for ammunition.

Congress was told the United States has proceeded sufficiently in our air service program to show the wisdom of the legislative policy with regard to this important and developing line of federal activity.

The budget included an estimate of $1,198,000 for the promotion of the welfare and hygiene of maternity and infancy.

For the federal building program $13,000,000 was requested to supplement the $8,131,000 pending in the second deficiency bill.

Operating the veterans' bureau in 1929 will cost the government $560,000,000, an increase of $31,660,000.

Cut From Appropriation The president asked for an appropriation of $142,753,229 for the agriculture department in 1929, or $591,000 less than in 1928. No provision was made in the budget for monetary federal relief for farmers.

River and harbor work was estimated at $68,176,200 including $400,000 for Sacramento river flood control.

For the first time in history the budget asked money for retiring government employees. Mr. Coolidge asked congress to appropriate $19,950,000 for civil service retirement and $213,000 for foreign service retirement.

An appropriation of $135,000,000 for refunding taxes illegally collected also was asked.

For prohibition enforcement work the president required $591,265 less than the amount received for law enforcement this year. The dry appropriation will be about $12,500,000.

RAILROAD BUILDER DIES IN CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 7.—William B. Prenter, former president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and one of the builders of the Canadian Pacific railroad, died in his home here today.

Prenter was known throughout the country for his activities in railroad building. He had been an official of the brotherhood for 50 years. He succeeded Warren S. Stone as president when the latter died in 1925.

Prenter's death was laid to nervous exhaustion and ill health aggravated by injuries sustained in a motor accident six weeks ago in New York.

He had been ill since last summer, when he suffered a physical breakdown and a subsequent attack of pneumonia at the triennial convention of the brotherhood, held in Cleveland. Prenter was born in Philadelphia, May 17, 1855.

BOARD IS OPPOSED TO COUNTY COLLEGE

gether and also on account of the possible and probable development of the 6-4-4 plan, the board did not wish to run chances of being tied up to any proposition that might lead to embarrassing conditions later in the event that it were found advisable to adopt the 6-4-4 plan.

The 6-4-4 plan is one which is approved by the best educational authorities and provides that grade schools be limited to six years, the next four years being included in the high school and the remaining four in the junior college and senior high school. This would place the present high school juniors and seniors in the projected junior college.

If a county institution were developed, it would be difficult for Santa Ana to maintain the 6-4-4 scheme because it would make it awkward and expensive, if not impossible, for Santa Ana or other parts of the union to shift to the 6-4-4 plan if it so desired at any time, according to D. K. Hammond, president of the Santa Ana college.

The red tape connected with dissolving the Santa Ana district and forming another and the difficulty of securing an agreement on a location for a county college, are other reasons which have been advanced by Hammond in explaining why he believes this city should continue with its present system.

The selection of a new site for the proposed new institution here probably will not be made for some time. The action of the board is taken as merely committing it to this scheme. It is possible that the board of education will have an educational survey made in Santa Ana. If this is done probably no definite action looking toward the purchase of a new site will be taken until the investigation has been concluded.

The effect of the action taken last night on the possibility of the formation of a county district is problematical. The Associated Chambers of Commerce committee, which has been investigating the situation, has deferred making definite recommendations in the matter until after a statement of local attitude. Fullerton has declared it will continue its present plan and with Santa Ana, definitely out of the picture, establishing a county institution is said to be considerably more difficult.

Hammond recently pointed out that the existing colleges can serve the county needs at present and that there is no reason why Anaheim, which is said to favor a college in the southern end of the county, cannot send its students two miles away to Fullerton under the present provisions of the law.

barber, of 2050 Cerritos street, Long Beach.

Could Have Killed Him "I could have killed the man just as easily, but I didn't want to do that," Blaeholder said. "I just wanted to shoot the gun out of his hand."

Arraigned on a robbery charge, before Justice Kenneth Morrison, this morning, McClure was questioned to furnish bail of $25,000 cash, but was unable to do so. His examining trial was set for December 14 at 9 a. m.

Attorney L. A. Leonard, Long Beach, represented the defendant and intimated that insanity would be the defense plea. "He is not insane, but we will be able to show a mental defect," the attorney said.

McClure, who is a dwarf in size and weighs no more than 120 pounds, cried bitterly during the arraignment. He did not make bail.

Makes Out Check

According to the story of the holdup, as told by L. W. Schauer, cashier, the bandit came into the bank just at 3 o'clock and walked to a counter where he made out a check.

Schauer went to the front door and locked it for the day and then turned to the man and asked him if there was anything he could do for him. The bandit handed him a check and asked him if he knew "John Meekly." Schauer told him he did not and turned to the door again to allow two customers to go out. As he did, McClure turned and quietly said, "Hands up," at the same time pulling a pistol from his belt.

Schauer quickly closed the door, locking it from the inside, and turned to face the man. The two customers, F. M. Reafsnider and T. Tevart, heard the bandit's orders and gave the alarm up and down the street.

Miss Florence Pearson, teller in the bank, saw the bandit cover Schauer. She quickly set off the bank's burglar alarm and then grabbed a tray containing several thousand dollars in currency and tossed it under a desk in the rear of the bank. Jake Kliever, bookkeeper, also gave an alarm by removing the receiver from a telephone near by. This was a pre-arranged signal notifying the phone company office that the bank was in trouble.

The bandit ordered Schauer to hand him "all the money." Schauer, knowing that the alarm had been set off, stalled for time. He handed the bandit a tray filled with silver, but it was refused. "Hurry up; get busy. I don't want that stuff," the bandit said, as he pushed the tray away.

Schauer then explained that all of the other money was in the vault. The bandit then ordered the trio to the vault door, where Schauer again stalled for time, failing on three attempts to open the doors. Threatened with death if he did not hurry, Schauer finally opened the door and handed the man $4500 in currency. The bandit overlooked about $9000 in the vault. The holdup man stuffed the money in his pockets, ordered the employer into the vault and closed the door, locking them inside.

He turned then to make his escape. On reaching a glass door, leading from the vault to the lobby, he faced Blaeholder, who had him "covered." McClure raised his pistol and Blaeholder fired, the bullet from the small gun crashing the glass in a partition and striking the bandit in the hand. The bandit's gun fell from his hand, and McClure fell on the floor, where he lay as if badly wounded.

Blaeholder had entered the bank from the rear, after breaking out a window. He was on the street when first notified that the bank was being robbed. He borrowed a rifle from a restaurant man, and with W. H. Haines, another deputy sheriff, rushed to the front door. Finding it locked, the officers went to the rear of the building and broke out a window. They entered the building just as the bandit was attempting to leave. Blaeholder reached the glass partition, through which he shot McClure, just as the bandit did, he said.

After firing, Blaeholder and Haines searched the building before returning to McClure. They did not know, they said, whether or not more bandits were in the bank. They then returned to McClure, searched him and recovered the $2000. They then released the prisoners in the vault.

In the meantime, someone telephoned the sheriff's office here, giving the alarm, and three cars, loaded with officers, arrived in Garden Grove just as Blaeholder and Haines emerged from the bank with their prisoner. All of the cars had taken different routes to Garden Grove to head off the bandit in case he had escaped.

Search for an automobile, believed to have been used by the bandit in traveling to Garden Grove from Long Beach, was conducted, but no car was found. It was understood that another man was in the car, parked across the street from the bank.

The man, apparently warned with others that the bank was being robbed, made his getaway, leaving his confederate in the bank, officers believe.

Blaeholder is well known in Orange county. He is the father of George Blaeholder, baseball player, who this year was sold to the St. Louis Browns by Tulsa, in the Western league. The younger Blaeholder was this year's leading pitcher in the Western league. Henry Blaeholder has been a deputy sheriff in Garden Grove for several years.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT
In prospect, disappointment, pain and sorrow look like instruments to the soul and belittles and ruin a soul.
When they have to be endured, a fuller measure of grace is bestowed by the God of all life and they become ministers to lift a soul to a higher level of courage and to an understanding of God's loving care, which was not guessed before, "nothing is quite so bad as it seems" you are ready to expect that no one can imagine the fullness of joy which is in prospect when the end of the days shall come and partings shall be no more.

Local Briefs

Mayor F. L. Purinton today received a letter from the mayor of Eureka, Calif., urging him to inform the local public that there is not a scarcity of labor in that district. He said that as a result of reports that there is plenty of work in the lumber mills there and on state highway jobs, that community was flooded with men seeking employment.

Father Connolly, of St. Ann's church, was interviewed today and expressed gratitude for all those who aided in the bazaar recently held for the benefit of his church. He said the success was such that the parishioners and himself felt that such appreciation should be given. He said that the Chevrolet was won by the Rev. Thomas B. Morris of St. Matthew's church, Long Beach, who drew number 1765, the winning number.

Jack Johnston, formerly with the Orange County Rock company and the Union Rock company, has been appointed sales manager of the Capistrano Rock and Sand company, it was announced here today.

Directors of the Crippled Children's Relief association will meet at noon, Friday, at the Elk's club, Anaheim, it was announced today by Harry D. Riley, president.

RED CROSS IS ORGANIZED AT LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 7.—Organization of the Laguna Beach branch of the Orange county chapter of the American National Red Cross was completed yesterday, when directors of the branch elected Mrs. G. B. Dunham as chairman, Thomas A. Cummings first vice chairman, Miss Annie Gayne Peake second vice chairman, Miss Alice Parker secretary and Verner Rush treasurer, appointed an auditing committee, decided on a quorum and selected a meeting date.

Those elected were suggested by the nominating committee appointed a week ago. Mrs. Dunham has had wide experience in Red Cross work and progress made in Laguna Beach in securing 40 members was due in no small measure to her enthusiasm, it is reported. Miss Alice Parker is secretary of the art association, curator in the gallery and likewise experienced in Red Cross work.

Charles A. Ktichen, elected to the board of directors of the branch, asked to be excused, and his place was filled by Verner Rush.

It was decided to allow seven to constitute a quorum, and to hold meetings on the first Tuesday of each month at 10 a. m.

An auditing committee composed of P. D. Pettes, Mrs. A. B. Goff and E. S. Wooster was appointed. Mrs. Hal Forrest asked that some action be taken regarding the Junior Red Cross. She said that this matter should be presented to the school, magazines subscribed for, and the work pushed.

Finally, 14 subscriptions were decided on. Mrs. Forrest stated that school children would exchange books with a chapter in Spain.

Directors who attended the Tuesday meeting were Ida Bowen, Mary K. Wing, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Pettes, Mrs. William Griffith, Mrs. G. B. Dunham, Mrs. Hal Forrest, Miss Alice Parker, Mrs. A. B. Goff, Miss Edith Hounsell, E. S. Wooster and Thomas A. Cummings.

With D. W. Dudley and Larry Golden, of the city engineer's department, as speakers, city employees at their meeting at the council chambers last night concluded discussion of provisions of the 1911 improvement act. The subject was opened at a previous meeting of the City Employees club for the purpose of acquainting the employees with the provisions of an act that is used a great deal in street improvement work.

THREE INJURED SCHOOL BOARD IN COLLISION TO MEET OF TWO AUTOS THIS EVENING

Three men were injured, two badly, as the result of a head-on automobile collision two and a half miles west of Westminster, yesterday afternoon.
Dr. G. A. Richardson, 353 Magnolia avenue, Lynwood, suffered several fractured ribs and cuts and bruises. William H. St. Clair, Balboa, was cut and bruised about the face.

The injured men were taken to the Orange county hospital by Deputy Sheriffs Jenison and Ryan, who were called to the accident from the sheriff's office.

According to a report made by Jenison, the machine driven by St. Clair passed a hay wagon just in time to meet the machine driven by Dr. Richardson, head-on. No arrests were made.

Several persons escaped injury at 9 o'clock last night when an automobile driven by Sandy Blair, 804 Eighth street, Huntington Beach, collided with a car driven by A. B. Coombs, 308 East Lemon street, Monrovia, on the Coast highway, near Huntington Beach.

Officers Steward and French answered a call to the scene of the accident. No arrests were made.

NEWPORT ASKS WRIT TO FORCE H. S. ELECTION

The long expected court battle to force R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools, to call an election for the formation of the proposed Newport Harbor Union high school district, began to take definite form today with the filing of an application for a writ of mandate ordering Mitchell to put the matter before the voters.

Lew H. Wallace, of Newport Beach, Donald J. Dodge, of Costa Mesa and Fred W. Opp, of Paulmarino started the proceedings when the request for a court order was deposited in the office of J. M. Backs, county clerk.

The document states that a petition signed by a majority of the heads of families in the three districts affected and asking that an election be called, was presented to Mitchell on June 14. Mitchell is said to have refused to accept it or to verify the names on the paper. He is alleged to have refused to call the election.

The application asks that he be ordered to call the election if, after verifying the names on the petition, it is found that they comply with the law. It is pointed out that the districts concerned have an average daily attendance of over 500 and the assessed valuation of the three regions is placed at $3,500,000.

It is stated that the distance to the nearest high school is more than two and a half miles. The districts are now a part of the Santa Ana high school district.

The court action is believed to be of a friendly nature inasmuch as Mitchell has stated that he is acting in accordance with the law in the matter in refusing to accept the petitions. The legal battle, if it develops, will be an attempt to get an interpretation of the law in this respect.

It is said that the school law does not make it possible for a part of a city district to separate and set up a new district. Mitchell could not be reached today for a statement, but this is believed to be his position in the matter.

The petitioners, represented by Diehl and Anderson, Costa Mesa attorneys, hold that the separation would be legal. They point out, that, in their opinion, the denial of the request for an election hinders the school privileges of the children affected and will affect the taxation of their property.

LAGUNANS SEEK ACTION ON DAM

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 7.—Efforts to create interest in a letter writing campaign to stimulate favorable action on the Boulder dam project were made Tuesday at a meeting of the Merchants' association by Fred Conkey, but because not enough were present the matter was laid over to a meeting to be held on Friday.

Conkey is a personal friend of Martin Madden, chairman of the ways and means committee. It is his belief that a campaign of letters, such as has been suggested by others and put into operation in other places, would bring results.

He will ask the Merchants' association, chamber of commerce, city of Laguna Beach, and many individuals to do all possible to show the sentiment here in favor of the project by urging action on the Swing-Johnson bill.

GOT WRONG MAN
OAKLAND, Dec. 10.—The deputy sheriff didn't get the right man, but he got one almost as good.

When Joe Diaz, heavily manacled and completely mystified, was brought before Police Judge Howard L. Bacon, Oakland, the judge remembered issuing a bench warrant for the arrest of Joe Ramos, of Alvarado.

Wife Attempts To Poison Him, Says Modesto Rancher

MODESTO, Calif., Dec. 7.—Suit for divorce was on file in superior court here today by R. L. Foust, rancher, alleging his wife, Elizabeth, had been mixing his coffee with poison for 10 days in a deliberate attempt to kill him.

Foust asserted that his physical condition had been materially weakened by the coffee served him by his wife.

The Fousts have been married 26 years and have four children.

LOS ANGELES MAN BURNED TO DEATH

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—William Carlisle, aged employee of the county charities, was burned to death here in a mystery fire which consumed his home and garage.

Neighbors said the fire blazed in the garage for 15 minutes and then leaped to the house. Firemen were summoned, but both buildings were beyond saving when they arrived.

DOUGLASS IS MADE KIWANIS CLUB LEADER

Gene Douglass, who has been the secretary of the club for the past two years, yesterday was elected president of the Exchange club to serve as president for the calendar year of 1928, the new officers being scheduled to take up their responsibilities on the first meeting date in the new year.

Others who were named to serve the club for the year were as follows: First vice president, Dr. John Wehrly; second vice president, Paul Ragan; secretary, Les Eckles; treasurer, Charles Pritchard; sergeant-at-arms, Kemp Taylor.

The annual report of the treasurer, Charles Pritchard, revealed the information that the treasury had a considerable surplus, with a more than satisfactory gain in cash on hand as compared with the close of the previous year.

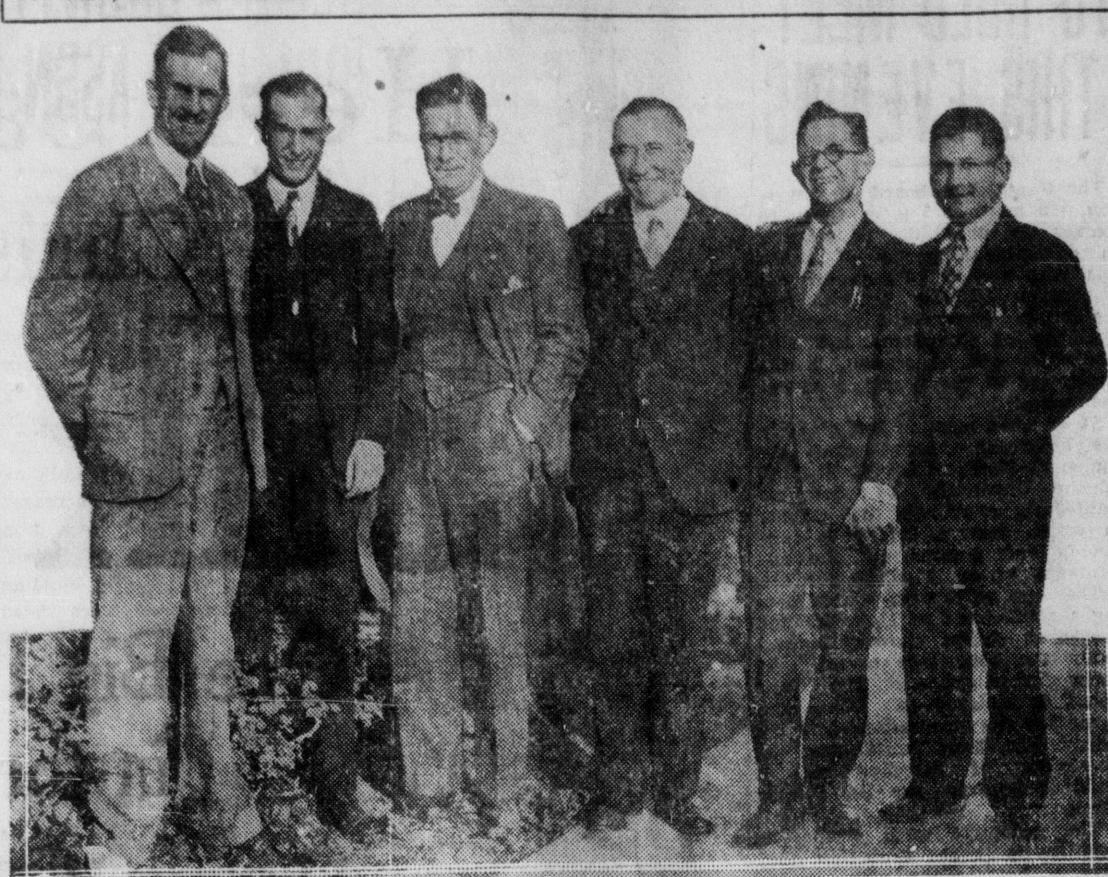

Discussion was had on the subject of investment of the surplus and application of interest to the club's major activity, assistance to Americanization work in the Mexican settlements in the city. The subject finally was disposed of by reference to the board of directors for recommendation as to the best method of handling the surplus.

The club, it was revealed, has enjoyed a substantial growth in membership during the past year, and its roster today carries more names than at any time since institution of the club.

DEFENSE SCORES IN SINCLAIR CASE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The government suffered a defeat in the Burns-Sinclair contempt trial today when Justice F. L. Siddons refused a request that H. P. Sinclair and his five associates be arraigned.

Siddons said the defendants already had pleaded in their written answers and therefore need not stand before him to hear the charges and respond "not guilty."

C. G. Ruddy, chief of the 15 Burns agents who shadowed Fall-Sinclair jurors, was the first witness called by the government.

REARREST GIRL IN HANFORD SLAYING

HANFORD, Calif., Dec. 7.—Unconvinced by the conflicting testimony offered to a coroner's jury by Perry Allen Coen and his sweetheart, Isabel Artist, 16, in connection with the fatal clubbing of the latter's mother, county authorities today again placed the girl under technical arrest.

Isabel, who denied allegations contained in Coen's testimony that she conspired with him in a plot to "put the old folks to sleep" so that they might elope, was refused permission today to go to Los Angeles by Undersheriff W. V. Buckner.

She was again placed in the custody of Probation Officer George E. Goodrich.

$200,000 WORTH OF JEWELS ARE STOLEN

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—In one of three cities, between Kansas City and Los Angeles, Bernard Rehfeld, New York consignment jeweler, was robbed of stock valued at more than $200,000, police said today.

He said he last remembered seeing the articles when he locked his trunk in Kansas City. From there he proceeded to El Paso, Los Angeles, San Francisco and back to Los Angeles.

There were 3414 pieces of jewelry, not including loose diamonds, taken. The theft was committed by someone who opened the trunk with a pass key, Rehfeld said. He left for New York to consult his insurance agents.

OHIO YOUTH SHOTS MOTHER AND FATHER

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Dec. 7.—Authorities today sought Andy Dyken, 15, who last night shot and killed his mother, Mrs. Mary Dyken, 33, and wounded his father, Nick Dyken, and a farm hand, John Mordis. The boy had been reprimanded for not attending school.

FINE FOR CHILDREN!

Give them a good start in life, with happy smiles and healthy little bodies. Children need a mild corrective occasionally to regulate stomach and bowels. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a safe vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. They tone up and regulate the eliminative tract. Not a nasty cathartic or a habit-forming medicine, but a safe, pleasant remedy for constipation, sour stomach, torpid liver, bad breath and similar disorders. Dr. Edwards, a widely known family physician of Ohio, prescribed these tablets for many years in his own practice. Children from six years up are greatly helped by them and like to take them. Recognized by their olive color, Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets overcome those irritable spells that many children are subject to, keep their bodies in active healthy condition, skin clear and eyes bright with the light of perfect health. 15c, 50c and 60c sizes.—Adv.

Noted Stage Star Of England Held On Drunk Charge

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—Pat Somerset, well-known English actor, was in another "bally mess" here today, the aftermath of his latest love escapade.

Somerset and his bride of a day, the former Sherry Wormal, Galveston, Tex., beauty contest winner, are scheduled to appear in court here late today to face "drunk" charges following an allegedly "wild" wedding night celebration.

The actor, who figured in a love scandal involving Edith Day, famous English actress, from whom he is divorced, was arrested in company with his bride in a Hollywood apartment last night.

RESOLUTION WOULD PROVIDE FOR PROBE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—A resolution authorizing the house foreign affairs committee to investigate charges involving the Calles government of Mexico, published in Hearst newspapers, was introduced today by Representative Black, Democrat, New York.

Explaining that the authenticity of documents published has been questioned, Black asked in his resolution that the committee be empowered to obtain copies of the documents and also to subpoena state department officials.

The resolution also authorizes an investigation into alleged communications between the Mexican government and American and foreign citizens.

ARREST MAN AFTER THREE YEAR SEARCH

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—Sought for three years, James Thomas, grocery clerk, was held by police here today as James Thomas Rush, charged with absconding with $130,000 from the Farmers' Loan and Trust company, of New York.

Thomas denied he was the man wanted, but authorities declared he answered every description. Officers reported he was arrested a year ago for bootlegging.

TAX SLASH MEASURE REPORTED TO HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The $235,000,000 tax reduction bill was reported to the house late today by Representative Green, Republican, Iowa, chairman of the house ways and means committee, who expects to bring it up for consideration by the house Friday.

LILLIAN GISH MUST ANSWER QUESTIONS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—Lillian Gish, noted screen star, said to be enroute here from New York, has been ordered by the superior court to answer questions she previously avoided as defendant in a lawsuit brought by Charles H. Duell, her former producer and fiancé.

Judge Walter S. Gates handed down a decision that questions propounded by attorneys for the plaintiff were relevant to the case and must be answered. He ruled that Miss Gish must appear upon five days' notice that her deposition may be taken.

In his suit, which names Miss Gish, Louis B. Mayer, Nicholas Schenck, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures corporation and others, Duell charges a conspiracy to break a contract. He asks $5,000, 000 damages. Efforts made by Duell to collect the amount through New York courts failed.

SHIPSTEAD BIG POWER BEHIND
70TH CONGRESS

It is said that no other man in the senate reads as much. He particularly likes to fathom the intricacies of finances as practiced by the treasury department.

It is customary for the Republicans and Democrats to hold party caucuses before each congressional session elect officers and decide what they are going to do. Shipstead holds his own caucus, for he himself is a quorum of his party's tall and slender representation in the upper house.

"I think I will elect myself leader, secretary and whip of my party in the senate this year," Shipstead says.

"I never have any trouble in my caucus. They are no revolts and but little arguing. If there are any arguments I always win."

"It is a most peaceful party."

HIGH SCHOOL HONOR
STUDENTS PLAN TRIP

Ten Santa Ana high school students, all members of the state honor society, will go to San Diego Saturday where they will attend the semi-annual state convention to be in session there. They will be accompanied south by Ray Adkinson of the high school faculty and advisor to the local chapter.

The morning hours will be devoted to meeting members from other schools. At noon a dinner will be served to all of the delegates. In the afternoon group discussions will be held regarding the various problems facing each chapter.

Those to go from Santa Ana include Fred Humiston, president; Sneril Spurgeon, vice president; Olive Granger, secretary; Elpha Thorndyke, treasurer; John Moffat, Virginia Pope, Eugenia Gilbert, Helen Shaw, Delmar Brown, Florence Brownridge, and Ray Adkinson.

THEY'RE ON OUTSIDE LOOKIN' IN

THE VARES—Taken outside the Capitol as convocation for the 70th Congress drew near—but lookin' in with eyes of misgiving—were Mister William Vares, Senator-elect from Pennsylvania, Mrs. Vares and their daughters, Beatrice (left) and Mildred. Despite his anxious mien, Senator-elect Vares said he was confident his prospective confreres would give him his seat.

VETS BUREAU
REPORT MADE
BY GEN. HINES

BY JOSEPH S. WASNEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The United States Veterans' Bureau was caring for 25,567 war veterans in hospitals at the close of the fiscal year ended June 30, Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the bureau, said in his report to congress today.

General Hines stated there were 12,650 neuro-psychiatric patients under treatment—the largest number in the bureau's history. There were 6726 tubercular patients and 6191 with general medical and surgical disabilities. All but 558 of the patients served in the World War military forces.

The annual report pointed out that the government is now paying compensation awards to 82,827 dependents of deceased veterans. Dependent parents predominate as beneficiaries, numbering 76,750 and receiving $18.18 as an average monthly award.

The combined monthly value of all death compensation awards now totals $2,255,855 or an average of $27.23 for each case. The 18,565 widows of veterans are receiving the highest awards, averaging $29.95 monthly.

Compensation is now being paid to 243,611 veterans, Hines continued. The government is disbursing $12,011,446,000 monthly to these men, making the average award $50.66 monthly.

The government is now maintaining insurance for 587,980 veterans, the policies aggregating $2,893,044,640. Uncle Sam paid more than $3,609,000 in dividends to the policy holders last year.

Fifty hospitals, with 20,762 beds are now being operated by the Veterans' Bureau, while 8615 other beds are held in reserve for bureau beneficiaries in hospitals operated by other government agencies.

The future hospital construction work of the bureau includes replacement of the temporary government-owned tuberculosis facilities at Tucson, Ariz., and Alexandria, La.; erection of a new hospital at Portland, Ore., to replace leased facilities; and erection of a regional office and observation hospital at Fargo, N. D.

Claims for adjusted compensation on June 30, totaled 3,359,179 and were valued at $3,279,030,198. General Hines said loans totaling $64,438,925 have already been made to 689,805 veterans on their "bonuses."

ANAHEIM, Dec. 7.—William Gregg, owner of one of the largest citrus holdings in this district, has just purchased, for his permanent home, the Hugh Grant residence on North Clementine street.

The Grant residence is one of the finest homes in Anaheim, having been erected at a reported cost of $30,000. The deal was made through the office of the Sidman Realty company, this city.

This sale climaxes the most satisfactory year, from the standpoint of sales, enjoyed by the Sidman company since 1924, it was declared today. Citrus groves comprising more than 175 acres and valued in excess of $500,000 have been handled by the firm during the past 12 months, it is reported.

Pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving, David Wolford, 54, Ocean avenue, La Habra, was fined $250 in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning. He paid the fine.

Wolford was arrested by State Traffic Officer Ernie Sawyer, north of Fullerton, late yesterday. The officer said that Wolford's machine was "weaving" along the road.

Wolford was lodged in the county jail last night, booked for driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Police News

Charged with speeding, W. K. Howard, 116 West Fifth street, was fined $10 in police court yesterday afternoon.

Two men were fined $25 each and a third was found not guilty on drunk charges in police court yesterday. The Rev. S. F. Scott, Los Angeles, convinced the court that he had not been drinking at the time he was arrested with John Pierce and P. MacWalters. MacWalters and Pierce pleaded guilty and were fined.

Four men, charged with vagrancy, were given 30-day suspended jail sentences in police court yesterday. They were J. D. Addis, J. A. Salyers, Alfred Foreman and Thomas Harris. All four were arrested Monday night by officers.

Charged with overtime parking, J. A. Fletcher and B. L. Lang, Santa Ana, were fined $2 in police court yesterday.

Called to 924 Logan street at 10:45 o'clock last night, Officers Peterson, Dean and Perry arrested Gabriel Cruz, 24, 922 Logan street, and Rios Navarra, 23, and lodged them in the county jail. The men will be charged with being drunk and disturbing the peace, officers said.

The home of Claude McGough, 211 South Oak street, was entered by burglars sometime during the past three days and an overcoat and a silk dress stolen, according to a report made to police today. A pass key was used in entering the house, according to an investigation made by Sid Smithwick, assistant police chief.

EL MODENA MAN IS HELD IN JAIL HERE

Arrested last night by George Bartley, deputy sheriff at El Modena, Jesus Ybarra, 22, was arraigned in Judge G. W. Engle's justice court at Orange this morning on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

He was arrested at El Modena early last night when the officer saw the car "cutting capers," it was said. Bail was fixed at $500 which Ybarra did not make and the examining trial set for 9 a. m. tomorrow, in Orange.

165 Missionaries
Will Leave Turin

TURIN, Dec. 7.—One hundred young Salesian missionaries eager for the foreign field have just been consecrated here and will leave for the United States, the Philippines, South Africa and nearly every part of the globe within a few weeks.

These followers of St. Francis of Sales going out into the missionary field this year number 165. They include 92 Italians, 26 Germans, 12 Spaniards, 10 Poles and 25 of other nationalities, French, English, Belgian, Lithuanian, Jugoslavians, Czechoslovakians and Hungarians.

Their fields of labor include Belgium, Congo, Palestine, Assam, Siam, Australia, Argentina, Brazil, Central America, Colombia, Venezuela, Cuba, the Philippines and United States. These devotees have been going out from Turin each year in increasing numbers. In 1923 there were 107 who went abroad, 159 in 1924 and 184 in 1925.

BEISSEL TALKS
BEFORE COUNTY
BUILDERS ASSN.

Declaring that people are "sold" on the building and loan association plan and citing the growth of the associations throughout the country, of the Home Mutual Building and Loan association, Santa Ana, last night addressed members of the Orange County Builders' exchange at the monthly dinner meeting in the Elks club, Anaheim, last night.

Business of the state's building and loan organizations increased $12,000,000 last year despite a drop in construction activities, Beissel said. Advantages of the building and loan associations were listed by the speaker in the course of his address. Figures of his own association in Santa Ana were cited by Beissel in showing the growth of the association plan.

The booklets containing the new Santa Ana building ordinance were exhibited for the first time at last night's session. The books contain 121 pages and were sponsored by the exchange. The work of compiling the building code was under the direction of Mark C. Cohn, noted San Francisco building authority. The booklets will be available at the office of the local building inspector by tomorrow, according to Morris Shelton, secretary of the exchange.

Entertainment was provided by John Steck, Los Angeles sleight-of-hand performer. The attendance prize was won by Jules Markel. Thirty-two members were present at the meeting.

TWO BOUND OVER ON THEFT CHARGE

Jack Neagles and George Knopps accused of stealing more than $500 worth of meat from the Henry Seidel Meat Market, 220 West Fourth street, on the night of November 25, were today held to answer to the superior court on charges of grand theft, following their preliminary examination before Justice Kenneth Morrison.

Bail of $2500 was demanded in each instance, but neither defendant was able to raise the money. Neagles and Knopps were arrested in Los Angeles, several days after the robbery, at a time when officers said they were in the act of selling the meat, declared to be the same as was taken from the Seidel store.

Both Henry and Frank Seidel testified at the examination.

FLOOD CONTROL IS DISCUSSED IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Another agency enlisted itself today in the flood control movement sponsored by the federal government when the National Rivers and Harbors Congress began a thorough canvass of the flood problem. The congress met in annual session here this morning.

In the two-day meeting just begun, the problem of flood control will be foremost in consideration. Various proposals for curbing such vast overflows as that which spread disaster through the Mississippi valley last spring will be discussed, and the congress will embody its conclusions in a resolution which will be laid before committees of House and Senate, soon to begin drafting of legislation.

Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, will explain to the rivers and harbors congress the plan for flood control which he has drafted as a result of investigation by his corps. This plan will be laid before congress as a basis of legislation.

Full and free discussion of the flood control problem will be invited from the membership present at this congress, which will include delegates appointed by governors of states, mayors of cities, and heads of agricultural, commercial, industrial and waterway associations. The views of government officials and experts who have studied the problem, including Secretary of Commerce Hoover, will be presented to the congress.

The congress also will devote attention to other matters which under its general survey every year, development and use of harbors, improvement of rivers for transportation and their adequate maintenance.

The intricate connection between the flood problem and the navigation problem was stressed in pamphlets distributed to members of the congress.

"We should favor and work for flood control whether it would promote the interest of navigation or not, but a controlled and regulated river is a vastly better artery of transportation than a river that runs wild," the pamphlet declared.

LEAGUE AIRPORT PLAN MUST WAIT

GENEVA, Dec. 7.—A League of Nations airport, proposed as a means of enforcing international peace, must wait while the question of extra-territoriality which is involved in such a port's establishment, is argued out.

The league plans to use the aerial port for two purposes, first for enabling members of the council in the event of war threats, to reach Geneva at the earliest possible moment, and secondly for the rushing of military and other missions to whatever frontier point on which war may be imminent.

It was originally intended that the Geneva aerodrome at Cointrin might be enlarged and utilized for this purpose. In the league's specifications, however, provision was made that the port must always be open for the arrival and departure of airplanes under any and all circumstances.

This means that the aerodrome must be at the league's disposition in war time as well as peace, and immediately the question of whether this might result in a violation of Switzerland's neutrality was involved.

It was regarded as conceivable that certain nations in war might insist that the free access to their territory of airplanes from a Swiss aerial port constituted a violation of Swiss neutrality.

Up to the present time the question has not been passed upon by the Swiss Federal council.

In the event, however, the latter should decide that it could not offer hospitality to a League of Nations airport for use in war times without risking Switzerland's neutrality, it is understood that the question will quickly be solved by France which will place the necessary ground at the league's disposition. As the French frontier is only a few miles from the league headquarters no inconvenience would be caused by such a solution.

REASONS FOR SAN DIEGO'S SUICIDES TOLD

By ESTO BROUGHTON
Staff Correspondent, Santa Ana
Register

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7.—"When all the blandishments of life are gone, the coward sneaks to death, the brave live on."

Suicides do not "just happen." There is a psychic reason for every one.

And there is a reason for the occurrence of suicides along the lines of soft southern isotherms.

The latitudinal boundaries of suicide epidemics are not accidental.

There is a connection between the temperature of the home and the temperament which impels the self-slayer.

The capital city is naturally, also, the suicide capital.

So, because it is easy to live in California, easy to live without a physical struggle, California has a high death rate from self-destruction.

Thus declares Dr. Anita Muhl, psychiatrist and newly selected chief of the state division of special education, who has just completed a survey of the causes of the suicides in San Diego, the city with the highest suicide rate in the state and four times that of the United States as a whole.

"Suicide is an attempt to escape from the realities of life by death," Dr. Muhl says. "It is the final gesture of failure."

"Strangely enough, we find this most frequently where, because of a balmy, languid climate, it is most easy to sustain physical life. Work, struggle, effort to combat the elements and most competition develops strength and mental health," she asserts.

"Thus in New York, with its sharp economic battling and its appalling heat and cold waves, we do not find the high suicide rate we do here."

Many others have attempted to explain the exceptionally high rate of San Diego by claiming that it was because people drifted in there already ill and discouraged and then took their lives.

But Dr. Muhl discovered in the course of her survey that 65 per cent of the suicides had been residents of long standing.

The high suicide rate of Sacramento was partly ascribed by Dr. Muhl to the fact that the state capital is located here. The seat of government is apt to attract cranks and unbalanced persons, the failures of life who hope the state will do something for them, she states.

Hollywood Blonde Admits Beating Up Gotham Policemen

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Mrs. Laurette Carlier, belligerent blonde of Hollywood, Calif., has pleaded guilty to beating up two New York policemen single handed.

Arraigned on a charge of assault, Mrs. Carlier, who said she was an attorney in her home town, modestly admitted that she was "the one who entered the Stags street station house and laid low the two patrolmen who arrested her for driving her automobile from one side of the street to the other the night of September 24."

She was returning from a wedding when the incident occurred.

The policemen, Edward O'Neill and Eugene Stahl, were kicked, beaten and knocked to the floor, while fellow coppers looked on in amazement.

Mrs. Carlier was released on $1000 bail, pending sentence.

She said her husband, Fred Carlier, was a wealthy textile broker.

PROTECTION OF GROVES FROM FROST STUDIED

BY HAROLD E. WAHLBERG
County Farm Advisor

More efficient regulation of orchard heaters where frost protection is found an economic factor in citrus production, is the aim of growers generally in Orange county this year. Considerable effort is being put forth in the field this year to assist growers in securing the greatest efficiency in the use of orchard heaters.

Because of the lack of previous experience some growers last year used more fuel than necessary and in some cases didn't understand the proper draught regulation to obtain the minimum of smoke. This year, however, a considerable improvement will be noticed on the acreage equipped a year ago, because of the demonstrations and personal work performed by the extension service, the weather bureau and the frost associations.

Bulletins describing the proper regulation of heaters and the efficiency of various types of heaters are available at the farm advisor's office, 110 Hall of Records, Santa Ana.

Looking to a more efficient campaign this winter, a meeting of interested citrus growers will be held at the farm advisor's office in the Hall of Records Thursday at 2 p. m. to discuss various phases of the heating problem.

Floyd Young, chief of the frost forecasting service in Southern California, will present data collected from last year's campaign that will be of particular interest to Orange county growers.

The hazards of insufficient fuel storage facilities and delayed firing will be explained by Young.

Harold Rathbone, Orange county observer, in charge of 17 minimum temperature stations in Orange county, also will be present.

All growers equipped with heaters or contemplating such protection are invited to attend.

RECORDS BROKEN BY PEN OF REDS

At the farm bureau egg laying contest held at Pomona, which closed for the 1926-27 year on October 26, Reds entered by Lewis T. McLean, of Arcadia, broke the contest record for all heavy breeds with a production from the 10 hens of 2081 eggs. This was 165 eggs over the previous contest record for Reds, an average of over 200 eggs, and is the highest official contest record for a pen of Reds in the state of California. Hen No. 833 laid 262 eggs and tied for high hen of all heavy breeds. Hen No. 838 tied the previous contest record for high Red hen with 235 eggs, and laid 47 eggs before going to the contest, which makes her total 282 eggs and still laying.

Owing to a bad case of pneumonia at the start of the contest, several of the above birds went to the hospital during January and didn't recover until February. At this date they were with the low pens for production, but during March they laid 284 eggs, which placed them seventh high pen for the month.

From that time on this pen of Reds made the greatest laying record of any heavy breed ever entered in this contest. In April they laid 257 eggs and tied for third high pen all breeds; and high Red pen for the month. In May they broke all records for a pen of 10 heavy breed hens by laying 274 eggs, which was high pen all breeds for the month and tied the highest record ever made at this contest for one month's production and was the highest official monthly record ever made in the United States by a 10-hen pen of heavy breed hens where floor eggs were not counted. In June, McLean's Reds stepped out with a production of 258 eggs, leading again for the month the 45 pens. During May and June 532 eggs were laid, making the highest record ever made at the Pomona contest for two successive months.

Following this most remarkable record this pen of McLean's Reds tied for high pen all breeds in July with 251 eggs and were high pen all breeds in August with 238 eggs to their credit. Hen No. 838 was high hen for the month of August entire contest with 28 eggs. Hen No. 833 was highest hen whole contest for September with 27 eggs. Hens Nos. 841 and 839 both tied for third high hen in August and No. 840 tied for second all breeds in September.

Secret Wireless Book Is Stolen From Japan Ship

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 7.—A secret wireless code book of the Japanese navy is reported to have disappeared during the grand naval review that was concluded recently. It is supposed to have been stolen from the first-class cruiser Amakaze, and the loss was not discovered until after the fleet returned from Yokohama to the naval base at Yokosuka.

Vineyard To Be Scene Of County Meet

Announcement has just come from the agricultural extension service of Orange county that a grape pruning demonstration will be held at the Utt vineyard on Lemon Heights December 14 at 2 p. m. Although the acreage of grapes is not very large in this county, there are a number of growers who are interested in what was formerly one of the leading crops.

Prof. F. T. Bioletti, head of the division of viticulture, University of California, will be present for this meeting and will be prepared to not only demonstrate proper pruning methods and practices, but will also answer any questions on general cultural methods.

Prof. Bioletti has visited Orange county many times during his time as head of the division of viticulture and is thoroughly familiar with local problems, it is declared. Everyone interested in any way is invited to attend the demonstration.

BEET EXPERT ARRANGES FOR COUNTY MEET

During the past spring a survey of the sugar beet fields of Orange county showed a distinct laxity in thinning operations in a great many of the fields, the farm advisor's office states. In some cases as low as 60 per cent of a stand was found and on further investigation, it was ascertained that a good part of this was due to lack of supervision of the labor. Thinning is one operation in sugar beet culture which can easily make or break the grower, it is declared.

The survey mentioned above was made by Dr. W. W. Robbins, former beet grower of Colorado, and at present employed by the University of California. Dr. Robbins, after making his survey, immediately interviewed factory men and prominent growers and it was decided that a better thinning campaign would be put on in 1928.

As the first step in this campaign, two mass meetings of prospective growers will be held on December 21 and 22 in Orange county. The exact place of these meetings will be announced later. One meeting will be in all probability be held near Santa Ana and the other in the eastern part of the county.

Several speakers have been secured for the meetings, including Dr. Robbins and Dr. E. Carsner, of the United States department of agriculture. Dr. Robbins has just completed a circular on "Sugar Beet Thinning" which will be distributed to all growers in the county.

PEPPER GROWERS URGED TO PLOW

The 1927 pepper deal has practically come to a close in Orange county and the growers are taking stock of the situation. It is found that this year's production has been much higher than that of 1926 and the returns much more satisfactory. The pepper weevil infestation, although rather severe during the latter part of the season, did not cause near as much loss as it did last year. The thorough fall clean-up last year and dusting with calcium arsenate probably had a great deal to do with this year's satisfactory results.

Now that the crop is harvested, growers should turn their attention immediately to turning under the old plants, according to the farm advisor's office. In order to get best results, the plants should be plowed under while still green so that they will rot more quickly, and also to destroy immediately the winter food supply of the weevil. Entomologists recommend this system of combating the insect because of the similarity in habits of the pepper weevil and the cotton boll weevil, and the growers in the southern cotton districts have found the system very effective. It cannot be urged too strongly on all pepper growers that this work should be done immediately if best results are to be secured, the office says.

NUT GROWERS HOLD PROGRAM ON DECEMBER 9

Following the biggest walnut crop ever harvested in the county, the West Orange Farm center is arranging a special program covering various phases of walnut growing and marketing, according to Andrew Smiley, president of the center.

W. B. Hooper, of the experiment station, has been invited to speak on factors influencing the production of quality nuts. He will stress the importance of prompt harvesting methods.

A. W. Christie, of the California Walnut Growers' association, has been invited to discuss the grade standards maintained by the association.

G. I. Bauer, local walnut grower, will present experiences in walnut dehydration, and Andrew Smiley, manager of the Richland Walnut association, will give an analysis of packing records on quality of nuts, compiled from the crack counts made upon delivery to the house.

W. H. Wright will give a preliminary report on the effectiveness of worm and aphid control, determined crack tests and field surveys.

The West Orange Farm center meets at the West Orange grammar school, located one block east and one block south of Orana.

The program is scheduled for the evening of December 9 at 7:30 o'clock.

All walnut growers are invited to attend.

ARRANGE PROGRAMS FOR FARM CENTERS

Orange county will be favored with several very interesting center programs this month, according to the farm bureau.

On Thursday night, Garden Grove expects to celebrate its year's activities with a "fun nite." For this occasion, a program of entertainment, including singing and dancing talent from Hollywood, is planned. Orange county celebrities will take part in the entertainment.

Friday night, the West Orange Farm center will hold a meeting for the benefit of walnut growers. At this time educators along walnut lines will be present to discuss the marketing situation and cultural methods.

Avocados will be the topic of discussion at the Yorba Linda Farm center meeting December 20. William McPherson, one of the best informed avocado men in California, will discuss varieties and cultural methods.

All of these centers extend an invitation to the public to attend.

Jackson To Go On Trial February 7

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 7.—Special Judge Oscar H. Montgomery has set Tuesday, February 7, as the date on which Gov. Ed Jackson and two political associates will go to trial on bribery conspiracy charges.

The jurist overruled the governor's plea in abatement and sustained the state's demurrer to the plea.

Governor Jackson, Robert I. March, his former law partner, and George V. Coffin, Republican county chairman, are charged with offering a bribe to former Gov. Warren T. McCray.

TAMMANY HALL IN NEW YORK IS SOLD

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Tammany Hall, for 60 years the stronghold of the Democratic party in New York, has been sold.

The historic organization will move its headquarters uptown. Although no new site has yet been selected for the headquarters.

The name of the purchaser of the property was not divulged but was thought to be either the Consolidated Gas company or the New Edison company.

Tammany Hall was founded as a patriotic and benevolent organization and to fight the aristocratic federalists of Alexander Hamilton in 1789.

In 1811 the organization built quarters at Nassau and Frankfort streets. In 1867 Tammany moved its headquarters again. This time to Fourteenth street.

Youth Will Make History Of World, Says Karl Bickel

DENVER, Dec. 7.—Young men will make the history of the world in the next 15 years, Karl A. Bickel, president of the United Press associations, told an audience here at a luncheon give nby the Young Men's Civic club.

"There is no profit in war," Bickel said, "and it would be a wonderful thing if the young men of the world would work together to prevent it."

"Dynamos driving the great nations of the world are young men," Russia is expecting war within the next three years and is preparing for it, Bickel continued.

"The Russians think the Polish forces will attack their army," he said. "However, I found no substantiation of their opinions in other foreign capitals."

SUNSET BEACH MAN IS FREED FROM CHARGES

That A. J. Galles, of Sunset Beach, is not guilty of malicious prosecution because he twice caused his employer, A. F. Dean, of Long Beach, to be arrested for asserted failure to pay him $80 in wages, had been decided today by Superior Judge Homer G. Ames in a $10,000 damage suit brought by Dean.

Dean, through Archie Tower, his attorney, pointed out that both cases resulting from his arrests had been dismissed. Galles, represented by C. N. Mozley, declared that he had no intention of defaming the character of his former employer, but that he did want his money. He said he was advised by the labor commission in Los Angeles to sign the complaint against Dean. An attorney had told him he had a good case against Dean, he said.

On the witness stand yesterday Galles stated that he had told the labor commission he did not want warrants issued against Dean until he had had a chance to talk the matter over with him again. He said the warrants were issued despite this wish.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, Dec. 7.—Members of the seventh grade of the school were dismissed Monday afternoon so that they might attend in a body the funeral of Mrs. V. Fitzpatrick, mother of Virginia Fitzpatrick. The funeral was held at 2 o'clock from a Santa Ana funeral chapel, with interment following at Fairhaven cemetery.

Virginia is now at Willowbrook with friends and her name has been transferred from the local school to that of Willowbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Picklesimer have as their house guests, Mrs. C. A. Pratt, of Epworth, Ga.; two brothers, Taskar and Ethridge, of Tampa, Fla., and a friend of the family, Herbert Nichols, of Epworth, Ga. The party motored through, arriving at 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning, having taken but 10 days to make the trip by the southern route. All plan on remaining in California.

On the day of the unexpected arrival of the party, who were not expected for another week, Mr. and Mrs. Picklesimer had as their dinner guests, Mr. Picklesimer's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kantenbach, of Pasadena; Pauline Parker, of Huntington Beach, and Mrs. Lillie Radford, of Long Beach.

Mrs. Robert Jenkins is ill at her home with influenza. Friends of Mrs. C. A. Pratt, of Santa Mesa, have been informed of the death last Thursday of Mrs. Pratt's mother, Mrs. M. A. Wilson, at the family home in Indianapolis, Ind., where she has been ill for a long time. Mrs. Wilson made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Pratt when they were Wintersburg residents a few years ago.

Susan, Isabelle and Dennis Russell, of Los Angeles, spent the week-end here with their father, David Russell. The family went to their Los Angeles home with the opening of the school term but plan on being back at the local home by Christmas.

Mrs. W. P. Treese and daughter, Dawn Treese, were guests Monday at a pot-luck dinner at the home of Mrs. F. L. Hoke in Newport Beach.

A special feature was announced Sunday at the Methodist church for next Sunday evening, at which time converted Jew is to fill the local pulpit.

The hour of Thursday evening choir practice, which was resumed last Thursday evening at the Methodist church, has been changed from 7 o'clock to 6:30 o'clock. Practice will be held at the church under the leadership of the pastor, the Rev. J. R. Carpenter.

The Home Guards, auxiliary of the Wintersburg Home Missionary society, which is composed of girls between the ages of 10 and 14 years, have started a membership contest and are busy adding new names to their membership roll. Boys of corresponding ages are eligible as honorary members. The Home Guards are under the leadership of Mrs. J. R. Gardner.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Fox were called to Garden Grove Monday by the death of Mrs. Fox's cousin, Lee Hoff, who passed away that morning following a lingering illness.

Mrs. C. E. Overholzer, of La Verne, is spending this week as a guest in the homes of her two sisters, Mrs. E. H. Fox, of this place, and Mrs. George Wardell, of Huntington Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Clemons and family moved the first of the week from Smeltzer into Mrs. H. Moore's house at Wintersburg.

Chickens continue in the community and nine children were reported as out of the first grade Monday. Among the late victims are Jane Ranney, Jimmie Letson, Andrea Gardner and a child from the Stinson and Tashima families.

The Misses Carita Deardorf and Bonnylyn Fox motored Sunday to Los Angeles with their father, C. G. Deardorf, of Riverside, to visit relatives.

Judge Convinced Black Is White If O'Hara's Jew

EL CENTRO, Dec. 7.—Mickey O'Hara, 22, of Indianapolis, who "prefers to be a Jew," and Paul White, 18, Kerwin, Ill., who was anything but white, presented a problem to Judge Perkins.

"Where did you get that name?" Judge Perkins asked O'Hara, whom he thought looked like anything but an Irishman.

"My father was Irish and my mother Jewish," the youth replied, "but I prefer to be a Jew."

That settled that and the judge turned to White, the colored boy.

"I suppose you are white?" asked the court.

"Yes, but I also am colored," came back the prisoner.

The youths were out of jobs and in court for vagrancy and Judge Perkins cleared his calendar by giving each a "floater" out of town on threat of the chain gang.

The pair headed for Hollywood.

CRUDE OIL OUTPUT SHOWS GREAT GAIN

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 7.—An increase of 18,033 barrels in the daily average production of crude oil in the United States last week over the week before is shown in the weekly estimates of the Oil and Gas Journal.

West Texas areas showed the way to the rest of the nation in production increases.

This district had a daily average production of 249,001 barrels, as against 232,489 barrels for the week before. Seminole decline from 431,410 barrels to 424,235 barrels, bringing Oklahoma a notch lower to 766,016 barrels, daily average.

Total Mid-Continent daily average production was 1,520,379 barrels, an increase over the daily average of 1,510,758 barrels the week before.

California increased from 620,000 barrels to 624,000 barrels.

Total production, daily average for the United States was 2,507,151 barrels, as against 2,489,118 barrels the week before.

Light oil daily average increase was 13,437 barrels.

HANSEN

HANSEN, Dec. 7.—Three accidents have happened at Hansen recently. G. M. Shearer, while riding a field cultivator, had the misfortune to have his three mules run away. He was thrown and one rib was broken. Gangrene set in the foot but with prompt treatment has been checked. William Morgan's team of horses ran away. The cultivator was thrown against his leg, injuring the muscles making him very lame for a few days. Mr. Trapp broke three ribs on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemp attended a birthday surprise picnic held in Bixby park Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Lukens took a drive one day recently through Palm Springs and the Palm Springs canyon.

Mrs. John Burch and her mother, Mrs. C. Havens, and daughter, Phillis Burch, spent Sunday at Long Beach.

Mrs. Swaze and Mrs. Bronner called on Mrs. Benson on Friday and on Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Haggerty, of Buena Park, called at the Benson home.

Mary Dochy spent Sunday in Los Angeles visiting friends.

Mrs. Emilie Dochy entertained at Sunday evening dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Harland Eunkler and Alfred Stilo, of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bitner and son, Walter Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Taylor and three children of Inglewood, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kenple, of Brea, visited Mrs. Jay Miser Sunday.

Miss Clara Eckert spent Saturday in Los Angeles visiting friends and doing Christmas shopping.

Mrs. J. H. Burgener, of Sawtelle, spent last week with her daughter, Mrs. I. E. Lukens.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Burch called on Mr. and Mrs. V. Wendel at Buena Park Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Poplowake attended a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tierney in Santa Ana one evening recently.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Wonderly drove to San Diego on a business trip last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sisson and their son and wife, of Skyteet, Okla., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Cheatham. Mr. Sissons expects to locate near here.

Mrs. William Morgan is suffering from muscular rheumatism. Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Bowman and her brother and his wife are with her.

Josephine Girard, who has been spending a few weeks at home, has returned to her work in Los Angeles. Little Barbary Girard, who was accidentally shot in the foot about a year ago and has since suffered from the wound, is having braces put on her limb, which is shorter than her other limb.

Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Helph and daughter, Myrl, of Whittier, visited his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Deuel recently.

Mrs. Charles Borland Jr. attended a shower given for her sister, Mrs. Margaret Borland, at Fullerton last week.

Blake Monague, of Los Angeles, spent a few days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eckert.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Poutz had a cablegram last week that their daughter, Arista Staley, who has been a missionary in Africa for over five years, was being sent home on account of poor health.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lockwood spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. John Burch.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Burdorf, of Fullerton, spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. R. Heitzhausen.

FANS BURNING FOR SOME HOT BASEBALL NEWS

Little of Interest So Far Has Developed at Dallas Convention of Magnates

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Baseball fans are burning up for some real news of the diamond. The "Kiki" Cuyler trade has primed them for a busy trading season and if big things don't break soon, a lot of bugs will spend a doleful Christmas.

A baseball fan, the dyed-in-the-wool variety, likes his baseball all the year around and the more, the better. He never seems to get enough. It was a sorry day last winter that didn't bring with it some piping hot baseball news. What with all the scandals and rumors of scandals the baseball bug had a very enjoyable winter. There's a lot of time left but some of the fans can't help wondering when all those trades they've been reading about this year are going to take place.

Cuyler Shift Spikes Gossip
The sudden shift of "Kiki" Cuyler to the Cubs for "Sparky" Adams and Floyd Scott spiked a lot of good gossip. The fans just naturally liked to talk about Cuyler, the "stormy petrel" of the Pirates, but Cuyler, a member in good standing of the Chicago Cubs, is another and duller matter.

Giant fans are pepped up over the chances of getting Ty Cobb. John McGraw hasn't said he's after Cobb but a little thing like that does not bother the fans.

Only one major league club is on the lookout for a manager. The Cleveland Indians were balked in their efforts to get Eddie Collins or "Bucky" Harris and are still dithering for a leader. The Chicago White Sox haven't signed Ray Schalk but it is taken for granted he will manage the Sox.

Three New N. L. Managers
Three National league clubs have new managers for 1928. William McKeechnie replaces Bob O'Farrell at the helm of the Cardinals, Burt Shotton replaces "Stuffy" McInnis as manager of the Phillies and Jack Slater replaces Dave Bancroft as leader of the Braves.

The White Sox were jarred loose from $125,000 to obtain Chalmers Cissell, flashy Portland shortstop. The Athletics landed the much-sought after Ossie Orwall, pitcher-outfielder of the Milwaukee club by giving in return "Chick" Gallows, shortstop and Bates, the catcher-outfielder.

The Cardinals surprised everyone by releasing Ernest Orsatti, the dashing outfielder who came from Houston late last season to Minneapolis under option.

Walter Johnson has pitched his last game for the Senators and will manage the Newark club of the International league next year. All Schacht, the coach and comedian, also will be missing from the Washington club next season.

The Yankees have released Bob Shawkey and "Dutch" Reuther, veteran pitchers.

Vincent Dundee Beats Baby Gans
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—Vincent Dundee, brother of Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, made his second California start here last night at the Olympic and won an unimpressive victory from Baby Joe Gans.

Dundee gained the decision after 10 rounds of listless milling during which Gans' old habit of hanging on slowed up the fight. Referee Gilmore pried the fighters apart so often that in the seventh round he stopped the bout to warn the negro.

Joesting To Play With East Squad

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Coach Andy Kerr of Washington and Jefferson has announced that Herb Joesting, All-American fullback from Minnesota, will play with the All-Eastern football team in the benefit game against the All-Western team at San Francisco December 26.

Nineteen of the 20 men who will make the trip to the coast have accepted and Kerr expects to complete his squad this week.

Williams Named Pomona Captain

Claremont, Calif., Dec. 7.—Lee Williams, for two years a backfield star of Pomona college, will lead the Sageshens football team next season. Williams' captaincy was announced last night.

AIMING FOR HIS THIRD FISTIC CROWN

Mickey Walker, once called "Little Jack Dempsey," is gunning for the light heavyweight championship and if he succeeds it will be the third division in which he has held a title. First he was king of the welters. Now he is reigning in the middleweight section. Walker holds decisions over McTigue and Berlenbach, both light heavies.

"MICKY WALKER"

*RUBY ROBERT* FOUGHT WITH GREAT SUCCESS IN THREE DIVISIONS...

By WERNER LAUFER
Just how good is Mickey Walker? Or, let's put it this way. What part is luck playing in the present fistic firework, furnished by the Elizabeth, N. J., Irishman?

This question is met with a dumb look from the educated boys who had the boss of the middles pegged as one about ready for the cleaners. Most of them figured the "Toy Bulldog" was on his last legs and even after his sensational ten-round knockout of Tommy Milligan in London, they merely giggled and said funny things about the British exponents of the manly art.

The "Mick" then returned to the states and started a tour of the jungles, hauling out the leather collar to all who got in there with him.

Little More Easy 'Jack'
"Just a little more easy Jack before he hangs up the mittens or is bumped out from under the crown," was the way the smart fellows had it doped. "Just wait till 'Tiger' Flowers gets another crack at the champ," or words to that effect.

Then it came out Walker was matched with the venerable Mike McTigue and the boys felt certain their good dope would hold up. "Surely the crafty ancient would kick the 'Toy Bulldog' all over the enclosure," was the feeling of the mob.

But the little man surprised and sent Auld Mike out in less than a round and Mr. Pandemonium has been with us ever since. He followed this up with a decisive win over Paul Berlenbach. Thus inside of a month Walker has defeated two former light heavyweight champions.

Maybe He's Another Fitz
Also the gang on the corner is now not so sure of Walker's early demise and some even venture to say maybe Mickey is another Bob Fitzsimmons or something, one who can cope with the bigger fellows as well as those of his own division.

Be that as it may, it certainly is not reasonable that a man can win himself two titles and make designs at still another on the mere strength of a rabbit's foot in his rear pocket.

With the defeat of McTigue and Berlenbach Mickey proved he is far from through, pugilistically, his defeat by Latzo and his disputed win over the late "Tiger" Flowers to the contrary notwithstanding.

Critics Raved in 1922
Back in 1922 after Walker won his first championship from Jack Britton, the critics wept big tears of joy over the youngster, going so far as to call him a "White Walcott" and a "Miniature Jack Dempsey." All agreed he was a most capable champion and with the experience he has gained since, there is no reason to believe Mickey is not as good as ever.

Another thing to consider is the part his manager, Jack Kearns, is playing in the flare-up. Kearns was soundly scored by many for letting the welterweight title get away from Walker in the Soranton go with Latzo. It was poor judgment, they said, for a champion to risk his title for so little consideration, and right in the challenger's stronghold.

Got Him Another Crown
But the "musk fancier" got his

HOWARD JONES, TROJAN GRID COACH, TO ADDRESS MEETING OF LIONS CLUB TOMORROW

Howard Jones, head coach of the University of Southern California football squad, and Newel ("Jeff") Cravath, the Santa Ana who is Jones' assistant, will address the meeting tomorrow of the Lions club at St. Ann's Inn. The session will be open to the public, whether or not members of the club, it was announced.

Arrangements for the appearance of the two Trojan football leaders were perfected today by G. A. ("Tex") Oliver, Santa Ana high school coach, who is a member of the club and also on tomorrow's program committee. Others on the program committee are Rex B. Kennedy, chairman, and Jack Wallace.

Musical entertainment will be furnished by the West Coast-Walker theater.

The meeting will begin at 12:15 o'clock.

A few more weeks and the northern racing season will be over. Veterans who have been following the horses for 30 years say they cannot remember a year which furnished so many upsets as old hectic 1927.

Don't cock a knowing ear, you of the snap judgments. The mix-ups are not attributed to "needlers," better and more vulgarly known as crooks. They were caused by bad horses.

As one veteran trainer recently said, insisting that his name be kept out of it because of fear of offending his boss, who happens to be quite prominent, "there weren't a half dozen high-class dogs seen in competition all season."

There were more inconsistent, temperamental, unsound nags beating each other all through the year than there ever has been in 30 years of racing.

"Everybody thought Brown Bud was the best of the colts but he

PROSPECTS FOR LOCAL COLLEGE ELEVEN BRIGHT

Football forecasts for the Santa Ana junior college, always a subject of wild speculation and much doubt for the reason that the team each year is composed chiefly of freshmen athletes, have come to the status where some dependence can be placed on the prospects for next year and an estimate of the strength of the 1928 team reached.

For Coach Bill Cook said today in reviewing the season's record, that he expects nine of his lettermen to report next fall.

If that is the case, the Santa Ana junior college team will have more second year men reporting than ever in the past. This fact coupled with the reports that several of the Orange county high school stars, including Captain Hylton, Anaheim high school's brilliant tackle will come here next fall, holds out promise for the greatest season on local college record.

Elect Captain Friday

Captain for the next year's squad is to be elected at a banquet of the football warriors which is to be held Friday night under the auspices of the Associated Women students at the residence of Miss Erma Brown, 1401 East Collins, avenue, Orange. The banquet is being given as a final tribute to the Santa Ana team which battled to fourth place in the conference and arose to its greatest heights by defeating the unbeaten Compton junior college team.

This year's record is the best achieved by the Santa Ana junior college in the past three years.

Captain Blanchard Beatty is to be lost to the team next year for he intends to enroll at the University of Southern California but all of the other freshmen players are planning to return, Coach Cook said. Six lettermen will graduate. They are Bill Poe, Gerald Twist, Mark Martin, Spencer Stewart, Roscoe Bradberry and John Fitz.

Nine Lettermen Return

The nine lettermen who won their numeral as freshmen and around whom the next year's squad will be moulded are Bill Luck, Maurice Guyer, Luke Davis, John Vance, all backfield players; Lynn Hafer, Harry Weaverling, Keith Farrar, John Casey and Donald Woodington. Among that group, Coach Cook will have ample material for both the line and backfield.

The possibility looms that the Southern California Junior College conference will be divided into two sections for 1928. The number of junior college has increased to the point where it is impossible to play all teams. Santa Ana expects to be placed in the Western division and matched with Pasadena, Compton, Long Beach, Fullerton and others of the larger colleges. The division championship in such a class will virtually mean the Southern California junior college championship.

Seniors . . . . . 0 2 000

After a vain attempt to come back, the senior girls' volleyball team, for long the unvanquished leaders in sports at Santa Ana high school, was forced to bow to the sophomore co-ed aggregation in the closing game of the interschool series yesterday. The score was 49 to 42.

The sophomores took the lead early in the first quarter only to have the seniors forge to the head by the half. In the third quarter, however, the underclass girls made

MELTING POT FOR STARS
The Notre Dame-Southern California game was certainly the melting pot for sport celebrities from all walks of life. I was kept busy greeting many old-time friends from the ring, diamond and gridiron.

Among those present with sideline privileges were Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, who, when not barnstorming or playing vaudeville engagements, hit home runs for the New York Yankees.

The irrepressible Babe, who has more color than a couple of paint shops, broke into the limelight with a bang as usual at the propert spot in the play. Incidentally, he showed that he had profited by the football instructions he received last fall.

What do you mean, football in gridiron. A crowd estimated at

BY GRIDDER

There was nothing but joy in Fullerton and gloom in Covina today.

For "Shorty" Smith's "Big Red Team" confounded all of the self-appointed critics and carried the colors of Orange county into the finals for the Southern California interscholastic football championship by eliminating the highly touted "Chief" Newman eleven, 13 to 12, in one of the most thrilling prep contests ever seen on any

BY FRANK GETTY
UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

Four of the country's most successful football coaches got together recently and among other subjects discussed was: "The Greatest Player I Ever Coached."

When I tell you that the coaches were Knute Rockne, Tad and Howard Jones and "Pop" Warner, and you stop to consider the mighty men in mole skin who have played under these football emperors, you will appreciate what it means to have such first-hand judgment on such a subject.

First of all, Tad Jones' choice may surprise you, although it didn't surprise me. The Yale coach named Bruce Caldwell.

"Just about as great a back as I ever saw or heard of," said Tad, referring to the youngster who was rendered ineligible just before the major games of his last season.

Kicker, passer, ball carrier, blocker and tackler, Caldwell could do just about everything in a clean cut fashion, with more drive and energy and accuracy, than any back of the year.

If I were selecting an All-American eleven based on my own opinion, Bruce Caldwell would be first choice.

Well, after Tad Jones had surprised everyone by naming Caldwell, it was generally expected that "Pop" Warner would name Jim Thorpe, the mighty Indian.

But "Pop" said no, that Ernie Nevers, now a professional, was a more valuable football player than Thorpe.

"If Thorpe had possessed Nevers' temperament, he might have been the greater, but Jim was lazy. He wasn't trying all the time. Ernie was, and Ernie could do just about anything with a football when he tried. Warner said he rated Nevers as the greatest back of all time, certainly the superior of Drury, this year's Pacific coast star.

Drury, naturally, was Howard Jones' choice. The Southern California captain did not set the stands on fire with his performance in the Notre Dame game. He kicked well, alternating with his kicking, who is real All-American, passed and started like a streak of lightning from punt formation. But he did not seem at home on the slippery field, he fumbled a couple of times, and he missed the kick which would have meant at least a tie for the Trojans.

Knute Rockne agreed that the late George Gipp was his greatest gridiron production. Of all the stars turned out by the master astronomer of Notre Dame, Gipp shone most brightly.

They would make quite a backfield, these four—Morley Drury at quarterback, Caldwell and Gipp half-backs and Nevers fullback. I do not think Drury quite belongs in that company.

The Trojan captain and his teammates were somewhat over-rated this year, in my opinion. Notre Dame took their measure at Soldier Field, outplaying them in every department.

FULLERTON DEFEATS COVINA, WINS RIGHT TO BATTLE FOR SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA TITLE

4500 witnessed the encounter at Covina yesterday.

Fullerton will meet the winner of this week's Santa Maria-Huntington Park struggle which will be played in Santa Maria. This will be the first time since 1918 that an Orange county eleven, except Santa Ana, has appeared in the final round of the Southland playoffs.

"Red Team" Surprises

The "Big Red Team" surprised even the most ardent of its Fullerton admirers. The determined defensive stand of the Indians was not unexpected because any "Shorty" Smith team can be counted on for a sound demonstration of the fundamentals but the brilliant running attack of the Orange County league titlholders in the second half occasioned more than passing comment so precise and daring was it consummated.

Covina scored first, utilizing a short forward pass to Jewett which the latter toted 35 yards to the only touchdown of the first half, so the Colts held a six-point edge at the intermission, their try for point having gone awry.

Fullerton came back on the turf with characteristic Fullerton determination and had the ball in Covina territory throughout the third period, as it had in the first half for that matter, but it was early in the fourth quarter before Oakele Adams, the long-legged Indian quarterback, completed a 50-yard forward pass to McElheny. The Fullerton receiver was dropped in his tracks on the Covina 27-yard line but after one incomplete pass, Adams took a short lateral pass from Hershberger and zig-zagged his way through almost the whole Colt team before he was brought down on the 2-yard line.

Smith Strategy Works

At this point the shrewd Coach Smith rushed in a substitute end, McCormick. The Fullerton backs faked an argument over the signals and when the Covina linesmen stood up, Chesley, the Red center, passed the ball down the line to McCormick who stepped over for a touchdown unmolested. Hershberger failed to kick goal and so the score was 6-all. But not for long.

With amazing alacrity, Fullerton forged over for another score. Following the ensuing kickoff, Shaver foolishly called for a forward pass deep in his own territory only to have the alert "Chili" Hezmalhalch, one of the real stars of the day, intercept it on the Covina 40-yard line. On the first play, Adams tossed a short pass to this same Hezmalhalch who side-stepped his way the remaining 30 yards to a touchdown.

Hershberger stepped back, shook himself a couple of times and kicked goal as pretty-as-you-please and as developments proved it was this feat which gave Fullerton victory instead of a tie for Covina came back with a wild aerial attack after receiving the kickoff and in four passes, two from Shaver to Chamberlain, the latter a tackle who was on the end of an unbalanced line, and two from Shaver to Coles, rushed the pignskin to the 9-yard line from where Shaver crossed the opposition and circled end for 8 yards. He bucked it over on the second play but his drop kick for the tying point was wide by several feet and it was all over but Fullerton's shouting as this hectic encounter ended a few seconds after the next kickoff to Fullerton.

Hezmalhalch Is Hero

Charley Hezmalhalch was not the most colorful figure on the field but he certainly was Fullerton's most efficient offensive and defensive representative although the slender Adams, who was playing with a bad knee, left nothing to be asked, his running back of punts being especially noteworthy. Hershberger, Hill, S. Del Giorgio and McElheny were other Fullerton stars.

Shaver and Jewett were the only Colts capable of making yardage.

Chamberlain's receiving of passes and his defensive play as well as that of Rausenbach and Needham was outstanding.

Flopped like a rug at the Latonia when Rolled Stocking ran off and hid from him.

"Nimba would be a first-rate filly if she were sound."

"Black Maria is the best thoroughbred of either sex in America at even weights in a series of six furlongs to a mile and six furlongs. She has had plenty of tough luck, too."

"Mars is not sound."

"With light weight up, Peanut was consistent early in the season but he went wrong and was retired right after Black Maria gave him a trouncing."

Of course there is Display. He has been an honest fellow on a fast track. He did not win many stakes but always when the track was fast he was mighty close to the winner.

Of all the events of the year the Latonia championship was a stunning blow to handicappers and horsemen throughout the country.

Rolled Stocking, comparatively unknown, or rather unlikely, made Brown Bud and Whiskery look like platers. He led from start to finish of the long journey and at the end was driving. He was hustled along in the stretch to keep in front of Woolbridge.

Perhaps the one race most indicative of the whole situation was the $20,000 Washington handicap. It brought together the best horses in training, including Black Maria, Crusader, Mars, Chance Play and Display.

Display won in a driving finish by a head from Black Maria but he carried only 112 pounds to the black mare's 117.

At that his victory was a surprise but it was hardly a reversal. He won a sensational race only a few days before. But in that event his opponents were not so hot.

CLOSE ENTRIES FOR COFFROTH TURF CLASSIC

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 7.—The closing of nominations for the world's richest stake, the Coffroth Handicap, finds this classic richer in promise in every conceivable manner than ever before.

The prize money is more; the class of horses the finest in the world and the number of nominations greater.

Among the blue-blooded aristocracy of horseracing, whose names appear in the lists for the big event, which will be run this season on Sunday, March 18, appear such kings and queens as: Jock, Grey Lag, Display, Mike Hall, Grippemlaud, Collogomer, Watkinson, Backbone, Light Carbine, Pompey, Black Maria, Masked Marvel, Kentucky Cardinal, Pennot Queen, Rip Rap, Premier and Carlisle.

The nominations for this, the ninth renewal of the event, have just closed and run more than 100. The latest heretofore was last year when 98 were entered on the books of the Tijuana Jockey club. The full list is now being compiled and Jack Atkinson is getting ready to put his "future book" into operation when the weights are announced on December 15. Atkin has operated the "future book" on the Coffroth for several seasons and it has now become one of the fixtures of American racing circles.

It is of note that most of the candidates for the Coffroth are already at Tijuana and in active training. The attractive week-end programs, with purses ranging up to $5000 contain events suitable for such high class thoroughbreds and will bring out the Coffroth horses frequently before the running of the classic.

boy another crown within a few months and has been steering him into triumphs ever since. Surely he has been vindicated for the nasty things said about his managerial ability.

But Mr. Kearns and Walker have announced they are out for bigger game. Maybe by the end of winter we will know if Mickey Walker can play Fitzsimmons' roles or whether he is just getting by on the good graces of Lady Luck.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

struction? you are no doubt asking. Let me explain. As good publicity for the barnstorming tour which, by the way, was a great success, netting each player about $10,000, Ruth and Gehrig, at various college stops on the way to the coast, and while there, donned football suits and worked out.

Dr. Spears showed them how at Minnesota, Pop Warner explained the game when they dropped in at Stanford, while Howard Jones, at Southern California, taught the pair a few tricks when they made Los Angeles.

RUTH GETS BIG HAND

At one stage of the game when one of Drury's long punts went out of bounds, a big husky chap was seen to arise from his side-line seat and catch the pignskin in the most approved manner, following it up with an accurate left-handed forward pass for about 40 yards.

Just as the crowd had decided he was some football star of other days, since his physique made it apparent he was an athlete, the announcer surprised the 110,000 by the statement that Babe Ruth, to show his versatility, had just grabbed a long punt from Drury, out of bounds, and sent the ball back into play with a snappy forward pass to one of the officials.

The Babe got his usual big hand when the crowd was wise to who he was, and he bowed his acknowledgement in the usual graceful Ruthian manner.

Ruth is very frank to say that he has no desire to take up football as a business. The game is too rough, thinks Ruth. He would much prefer slugging the ball than getting slugged.

KEEPING DOWN WEIGHT

Prone to take on weight quickly when the daily baseball grind is over, Ruth has packed on about 20 pounds since the closing of the season. However, he isn't worrying about that—says that's an annual fall pastime.

Gehrig, on the other hand, who also puts on weight quickly, is just four ounces heavier than when the season opened. The Babe's weight has been increased because he has thrown caution to the wind as to his groceries since the season closed, while Gehrig sticks closely to a diet.

Ruth thinks 60 home runs will stand for some time as a major league record. Says he was more surprised than anyone else at breaking his mark of 59. Gives much credit to Gehrig, because he said the pitchers feared Lou more than him and thus pitched to him rather than pass him.

While admitting Gehrig is his greatest rival for swat honors, Ruth says no one is going to take the home run prestige away from him as long as he remains in the game.

"The Yankees are a cinch to win the pennant for at least two years more," is the way Ruth sizes up the pennant race in the American league.

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 7.—American association officials meeting here in connection with the National Convention of Minor Baseball Leagues resumed deliberations today in an effort to reach an agreement on 1928 schedules.

Mike H. Sexton, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, in his opening address to the association declared himself radically opposed to practices of major leagues in scouting promising material from colleges and said a conciliatory meeting of major and minor league officials should be held to insure harmony between the two groups.

MONEY SWAMPS TAX COLLECTOR LAMB'S OFFICE

J. C. Lamb, county tax collector, has received so much money during the last week that he doesn't know where to put it. Today, part of it piled on the floor, where it has overflowed from desks and counters and a battalion of clerks is sorting and counting it preparatory to finding out how much cash Orange county residents have sent in to run the government for the first half of the coming year.

Taxes become delinquent Monday and the amount of mail that has found its way into Lamb's hands will keep his employees busy for the next week or 10 days, he said, before he will know what the total income is. Incidentally, he will know at that time whose payments have become delinquent.

Figuratively speaking, he stuck his head out from under a mountain of letters today to tell you whether a certain letter is in the mail until it has been sorted. That's the position we're in now."

SEVENTIETH CONGRESS DUSTS OFF ITS DESK

Gold Discovered In New Guinea

CANBERRA, Dec. 7.—The warden of the New Guinea gold fields, who is visiting Canberra, says that tremendous mineral wealth is to be obtained from the fields. Gold valued at $1,500,000 has already been obtained by alluvial miners, who have hardly touched their claims. No underground work has yet been attempted, but a line of reef, 30 feet wide has been discovered. It was traced by an outcrop for five miles.

W. E. BORAH MAY BACK HOOVER IN 1928 CAMPAIGN

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—There continues to be good reason to believe that Senator William E. Borah will end up by supporting Herbert Hoover for the Republican presidential nomination.

The reason for this seems to be that there is no one else for Borah to support, if he supports anyone at all. It does not appear at all likely that Borah will reach the convention whooping for Senator George W. Norris, even though the progressive senatorial group has hoisted the Norris kite for the time being. The real possibilities, excepting Hoover, are too conservative for him.

Norris hasn't a chance of nomination and there is no more reason for Borah to support him than there was for him to support La Follette. Borah must figure, and rightly, that he himself has a much better chance for the nomination than Norris, even though that isn't saying a great deal. Furthermore, Borah is so accustomed to playing a lone hand that there is much doubt whether he will travel with the progressive group through the next session of congress.

On the other hand, although it is conceivable that Borah might line up the progressive senators behind his own candidacy, it does not now seem possible that he could swing a third of them to Hoover unless Hoover endorsed some of their pet measures. There seems not the slightest ground for any suspicion that the recent progressive organization was inspired by any thought of Hoover, although he would be less objectionable to its members than some other important candidates.

The thought has come to more than one person—and this probably includes the wise old senator from Idaho himself—that if Borah helps win the nomination for Hoover and then helps him win the election, Borah can be the next secretary of state. And your correspondent is convinced that Borah would like that job.

Borah would be out of it, of course, as a running-mate for Hoover—both because of geographical expediency and his own distinct preference. If Hoover carries the convention and Al Smith still looks like the Democratic nominee, the second man on the ticket will almost certainly be pulled out of New York.

One is almost tempted to say out of New York or Massachusetts, for they are talking about Governor Alvin T. Fuller in New England states, including Massachusetts, which might go for Smith next November if special precautions were taken to stop them.

But the Republican party is seldom dumb and it might be very dumb politics to put Fuller on a ticket if he expects a close race. Reports indicate that Fuller's handling of the Sacco-Vanzetti case have not weakened him appreciably in the old Bay state, but there is much doubt whether it gave him any popularity in many other states. No case ever aroused such general feeling as that of the two Italians and there are undoubtedly hundreds of thousands—and possibly millions—who would be enraged if his party were to honor Fuller.

SOVIETS' OIL DEAL AROUSES EUROPEAN ROW

By FREDERICK KUH
United Press Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, United Press)

BAKU, Azerbaidschan, Dec. 7.—Recent events have demonstrated that Soviet oil may decide the race between the giant oil concerns of America and Britain for supremacy in important world markets.

This autumn the Standard Oil company moved to capture big petroleum markets in the Near East, Mediterranean basin and Far East from its most dangerous rival, the Royal Dutch-Shell, by obtaining exclusive rights to purchase Russian oil for shipment and sale in the Near East and Orient.

When the Standard Oil of New York and the Vacuum Oil company entered these arrangements with the Soviet Naptha syndicate, they merely confirmed publicly that they could not compete with the British-controlled Royal Dutch if they were obliged to transport oil to Turkey, Egypt and India. They outmaneuvered the Royal Dutch when they arranged to buy Soviet oil in the Black Sea port of Batoum, whence it could be shipped to Constantinople in two or three days.

Sir Henri Deterding, president of the Royal Dutch opened his intensive campaign against "stolen Soviet oil" immediately after his American competitors concluded their big contract with the Russian oil trust. Sir Henri, it is assumed, perceives the possibility of more such combinations between Moscow and his chief rival across the Atlantic. Sir Henri is moreover aware that, during the brief six years since the Russians began to export oil to Europe, they have captured 15 to 20 per cent of the European oil markets, including 49 per cent of the Italian, 16 per cent of the French, 15 per cent of the Belgian, 4.4 per cent of the English and 60 per cent of the Turkish markets. According to official British government figures, the Russians are selling gasoline in London at six to eight cents per gallon less than Sir Henri's Royal Dutch.

Soviet oil men in Baku and Grozny tell me that they consider Sir Henri Deterding their best sales agent since, in his attacks upon Soviet oil, he continually emphasizes the low prices at which Soviet petroleum is being sold abroad. The bolsheviks say that it is not despite, but because of Sir Henri's campaign against them that their oil sales in England have not merely held their own, but increased since the rupture of relations between London and Moscow.

Leaders of the Soviet Naptha industry are confident that their exports will increase further. With contracts now pending, the Russians will raise their petroleum exports from 2,000,000 tons this year to 3,000,000 tons in 1928.

The vice president of the (Baku) Azerbaidschan oil trust, Constantine Rumiantsseff declared to me that petroleum is being produced in Baku at three to four per cent below pre-war costs.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and works right away. It may prevent a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet—olds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Better than a mustard plaster.

SEE DEMOCRAT SPLIT AS HELP TO SOCIALISTS

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Nomination of Governor Smith will split the Democratic party and in consequence the Socialist ticket will constitute the only real opposition in the presidential election, Morris Hillquit, executive chairman of the Socialist Party of America, told the United Press in an interview.

Hillquit said the Socialist nominee for president probably would be selected from among James H. Maurer, president of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor; Daniel Hoan, Socialist mayor of Milwaukee, and Norman Thomas, of New York, former Socialist candidate for governor and mayor. The national convention, Hillquit announced, would be held in New York City on April 14.

The platform will deal prominently with questions of foreign policy and domestic economic issues, Hillquit said.

"Undoubtedly, there will be a plank advocating cancellation of foreign debts provided interallied debts also are cancelled and reparations payments correspondingly eased," he said.

"Also, the party probably will express itself as opposed to armed intervention in Central or South America and to any government interference in disputes between American concessionaires in Mexico and the Mexican government."

Full and immediate independence for the Philippines also will be a party plank, the chairman said. On prohibition there may be a plank providing for light wines and beer under government monopoly, Hillquit added, although at this time there is considerable party sentiment supporting full enforcement.

The Socialist party has not had a presidential candidate since 1920, when it nominated the late Eugene V. Debs. In 1924, the party supported the elder La Follette.

Gets 9 Months For Pint Liquor

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 7.—A pint of hooch isn't much but nine months is a long time, in the opinion of old time "joy-cup hipsters," who subscribe to the theory that a pint is only sufficient to cause a mild attack of heartburn.

They are considering the case of Menelo Camelo, "Bunker Hill" resident from the Coos Bay region, who pleaded guilty in federal court here to selling a pint of liquor and who was sentenced to nine months in the federal section of the county jail.

COUNTY COAST GROWTH SEEN BY SPEAKERS

COSTA MESA, Dec. 7.—That the coast section of Southern California, and especially the coast section of Orange county, is to become the greatest section of the state, was the declaration made yesterday at Costa Mesa by the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, of Santa Ana. The Santa Ana minister spoke before representatives of four coast town luncheon clubs, the Costa Mesa Lions, the Laguna Beach Lions, the Newport Exchange club and the Huntington Beach Rotary club.

The Rev. Schrock's talk was based on co-operation and the future development of the Orange county coast. The spirit of co-operation as shown by the meeting between the organizations of the various cities was applauded by the pastor. He declared that by working for each other the communities would build themselves. He stressed the fact that a few persons can stop a co-operative movement.

The four most useless men in any community were described by the preacher. He declared that the most useless man was an optimist, because an optimist thought a satin bag could be made from a pig's ear and looked too brightly upon things. The second most useless man was described as a pessimist. A conservative man and a radical person were described as the other two most useless persons.

A "new liberal" person was described as the most useful person in a community. The Rev. Mr. Schrock described the liberal man as an unbiased person who delved into the facts of a case, studied the facts and moved wisely regardless of prejudices or personal grudges.

J. Frank Burke, editor of The Register, also spoke briefly. He predicted the rapid growth of the coast section, declaring that within a few years he expected to see a bigger city than Santa Ana stretching along the coast. The editor also spoke of the needs of Southern California and of the great opportunities facing citizens of Orange county and vicinity.

Dr. C. G. Huston, president of the Costa Mesa Lions club, who arranged the meeting, was acting chairman. Dr. Huston in a short address, declared that he hoped the meetings of the four clubs could be held once each month. He envisioned a greater spirit of co-operation between the various coast cities and urged upon all people to "stop, look and listen" when passing through Orange county's coast towns.

More than 125 persons were present at the meeting. The dinner was served by the Costa Mesa Woman's club. During the meal music was furnished by Harry Robinson, of Huntington Beach, on the violin, and by Mrs. W. F. Greshner, of Costa Mesa, at the piano.

The clubs were seated according to their geographical location, with the Huntington Beach Rotarians on the west, the Laguna Beach Lions on the east and Newport Beach Exchange on the center, with Costa Mesa Lions scattered about. Presidents of the various clubs were seated at the head table.

Incorporation Planned By San Clemente

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 7.—Incorporation of San Clemente as a city of the sixth class is planned by residents of the Spanish Village, it was learned today.

A petition will be in circulation some time this week, the names of 50 registered voters being required. The petition will be presented to the board of supervisors of Orange county. It is believed that the supervisors will set the election for some time in January.

J. M. PEARSON POLICE CHIEF IN FULLERTON

FULLERTON, Dec. 7.—Following the recommendations of the police committee, composed of W. J. Carmichael and O. M. Thompson, the city council appointed James M. Pearson as chief of police of Fullerton at the regular meeting of the council at the city hall last night. Pearson was appointed temporary chief following the resignation of the former chief, T. K. Winter, last week.

City Engineer Thorpe announced to the council that pavement repair work would be started tomorrow. The work will consist of patching broken pavements in various parts of the city. The repaving will include portions of the pavement dug up by the Southern Counties Gas company.

The council authorized the purchase of a Fairbanks-Morse booster pump for the city pumping plant. Action was deferred on the purchase of an additional pump.

A communication was read from M. B. Wellington, notifying the council that the executive committee of the outfall sewer would meet at Orange December 14 to hear and discuss protests against claimed nuisances of the outfall sewer.

A resolution was passed by the council, authorizing the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company to remove its pole line from Valencia drive in order that Valencia drive may be widened.

A new subdivision to be known as South Gate park, located on South Spadra road, was approved by the city council when the map was presented to the board. A change in a water course through the subdivision was made prior to the acceptance of the tract.

The assessment district which was formed for improvement work on Pritchard avenue was approved by the board when it was presented by Engineer Thorpe.

An extension of 15 days' time was given the electrical firm of Walker and Martin for the finishing of the ornamental lighting on Golden Hill. This was done on the recommendations of City Engineer Thorpe. An extension of 60 days' time was given to Steele Finley for his paving contract on West Malvern avenue and in Acacia Park.

On the request of Councilman Carmichael, a communication will be sent the Fullerton union high school, congratulating the school on the clean way the authorities have carried on athletics during the past few years. Included in the communication were congratulations for the manner in which the football men conducted themselves at the Fullerton-Covina game at Covina yesterday.

ANAHEIM HIGH STUDENTS WILL PRESENT PLAYS

ANAHEIM, Dec. 7.—Two dramatic one-act plays and a negro minstrel show will feature the annual Christmas program to be given by students of the Anaheim union high school in the school auditorium next Friday evening, according to announcement today.

The two plays are being prepared by students in the drama classes under the direction of Miss Lucille Bickley. One is called "Santa Claus." Those who will take part are Lloyd Riutzel, Elizabeth Dickerson, La Verne Holmberg, Francis Bushard, Martha Adams and Hazel Filer.

"Penny A Flower," the simple but impressive story of a poor little flower girl and the influence she has upon those with whom she comes in contact, is the second play to be offered. In its cast will appear Ruby Wilbur, Eric Borchard, Clay Burlington, Viva Taber, Ione McMurtry, Lawrence Poirier, Lois Couts, Helen Brown and Lelan Alsip and Harold McKeehan.

Miss Madeline Conover, art instructor, is directing her classes in the preparation of suitable stage settings for the two skits.

The boys' glee club, under the leadership of Miss Carrie Sharp, will present the negro minstrel show, which is to be the first program of this kind ever presented in the local high school.

"Jigs" by Charles Walters, Anaheim youth who has won considerable renown through his talents, are to feature this part of the program, which is to include a number of negro ballads, songs by the club, solo numbers, selections by a quartet composed of Walter Jungkeit, Harold Hylton, Floyd Lakeman and Simeon Toelle, readings by Jack Weatherly and numerous "gags."

Pre-Nuptial Parties Are Planned for Miss Stewart

A bridal shower honoring Miss Grace M. Stewart of Long Beach, was held last Saturday afternoon, at the home of her aunt, Mrs. E. L. Eustis of Tustin. Some fifteen guests were present to enjoy a series of games, and tea-towel hemming for the honoree.

Miss Stewart received many lovely gifts, all of which were enjoyed by the guests, preliminary to the serving of a dainty tea menu. Another enjoyable gift shower was tendered the bride-elect late last week, by Mrs. Clifford Holz, in her Long Beach home.

Miss Stewart is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Cruzen of this city, and will on Saturday, December 10, become the bride of Mr. Stewart Golden of Long Beach.

Mid-Winter Picnic At County Park

An all fresco party with a chicken dinner served beneath the trees of Orange county park, was the pleasant experience shared Monday night by the girls of the New York Beauty college.

Tables where the delicious dinner was served, were brightened with poinsettias in Christmas effect, and the unique experience of picnicking so near the holiday season, was much enjoyed. Twenty-four guests were seated at the tables, with place of honor reserved for Mrs. Helen A. Cowley, head of the college, who has just returned from the east.

Dancing and cards were the evening's diversion.

Engagement News Told Friends of Hostess At Bridge Party

Christmas balls seemed to chime in union with wedding bells at a charmingly appointed party given recently by Miss Bernice Hayward at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Hayward, 806 Cypress avenue. For during the course of the evening, the hostess announced her engagement to William Ayer.

Bridge was the entertainment feature of the evening. When scores were taken, it was found that Miss Mildred Scott held high, for which she was rewarded with a quaint basket of bath salts. Miss Dorothy Carter received the consolation prize of a novelty shoe horn.

Late in the evening the guests were led to the dining room where a prettily appointed table in red and gold, conformed to the Christmas decorations of poinsettias and holly sprays in the other room. Cardstock place cards were used and at each place was a Christmas bell nut-cup, and from the clapper of each bell, swung a card bearing the names of Miss Hayward and Mr. Ayer. In the nut cup at the place of the hostess, was concealed the pretty engagement ring, which was greatly admired by the other guests.

The delicious two-course supper was served by Miss Hayward's mother, Mrs. H. F. Hayward. Place cards were written for the Misses Hazel Kinsel, Evangeline Bryant, Elizabeth Scott, Dorothy Haynes, Dorothy Carter, Grace Gettle, Peggy McGarvin, Lillian Weststrom, all of Santa Ana, Constance Fox of San Clemente, Florence Marshall of Pasadena, and the hostess and her brother, Claude Hayward.

Evening of Bridge Is Entertainment in Long Home

One of Monday night's enjoyable parties was that given by Mrs. W. J. Long of 512 North Van Ness avenue, entertaining at bridge.

Tables were arranged against a background of flaming poinsettias. Attractive prizes selected by the hostess, were secured by Mrs. W. H. Haddon, scoring high. Mrs. Robert Munro, second, and Mrs. Allen third. Following the presentation of the gifts, dainty linens replaced the card table covers and chicken salad, coffee and pineapple pie were served. Each table was adorned with poinsettias.

Enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Long were Mrs. W. H. Haddon, Miss Justine Whitney, Mrs. Emma Van Dusen, Mrs. Allen, Miss Ada Santell, Mrs. Robert Munro, Mrs. Vera Wolf, Mrs. Elizabeth Clark, Mrs. R. Frazer, Mrs. Norma Newman, all of Santa Ana, and Mrs. F. Y. Clark and Mrs. C. Jack Zinn of Long Beach.

Santa Anan Attends Tibbett Concert

A happy experience indeed, was that of Madame Manuela V. Budrow, of 1119 Spurgeon street, Santa Ana's "Spanish Nightingale" who last night had the privilege of hearing another vocalist, none other than Lawrence Tibbett, who won a critical Los Angeles audience by his concert at the Philharmonic auditorium.

Madame Budrow today expressed the liveliest appreciation of the talents of the singer, declaring his voice to be the most beautiful and thoroughly satisfying one she has yet heard on the coast. She particularly liked his magnificent rendering of Othello's "Creed" from the Verdi opera, declaring that it was given with a dramatic force that was magnificent. Also his generosity with encore numbers was marked, and he graciously responded with all the songs that were demanded of him, singing among others, Mossourgsky's "Song of the Flea," a request of her own.

In addition to the joy that Tibbett's beautiful voice and artistry gave the Santa Ana singer, she had the pleasure of meeting him and having a few minutes' intimate conversation with him during the intermission and was also invited to attend a reception and musicale that is to be given for him in the near future, by Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Donahue of Hollywood. Needless to say, Madame Budrow accepted the invitation, and will have the pleasure of hearing him again in the intimate surroundings of a home.

Supreme K. P. Officer To Be Entertained

Santa Ana Lodge No. 149, Knights of Pythias, is to have the honor of entertaining the supreme chancellor, Richard Witte of Milwaukee, at its stated session tonight in K. of P. hall, and will at the same time, welcome a number of grand officers as well as Knights from other lodges in the district.

Chancellor Witte has an important message to bring to the lodges in District No. 31, and has chosen Santa Ana as the most central point from which to deliver his message. The grand officers who will attend the meeting will occupy the chairs, adding to the interest of the occasion. Other speakers will be introduced, and at the close of the session, a banquet will be served by the Pythian Sisters.

The Santa Ana Knights are making arrangements to welcome a crowd of some 500 persons, and a full attendance of local members is expected.

THE AFTERNOON FROCK WINS ITS WAY IN FASHION CENTER

PARIS, Dec. 7.—The great new feature this season in the realm of fashion is the reappearance of the afternoon-frock. While last year a sports ensemble could be worn and was often worn by a well-dressed woman right up to the dinner hour, this year it is relegated to its proper place and from the early afternoon on she will now slip into a real "robe d'apres-midi."

Another novelty is the "tailleur d'apres-midi," that is to say the afternoon suit. This is mostly carried out in velvet, either plain or corduroy, or in satiny broadcloth, and in every case is lavishly trimmed with real fur.

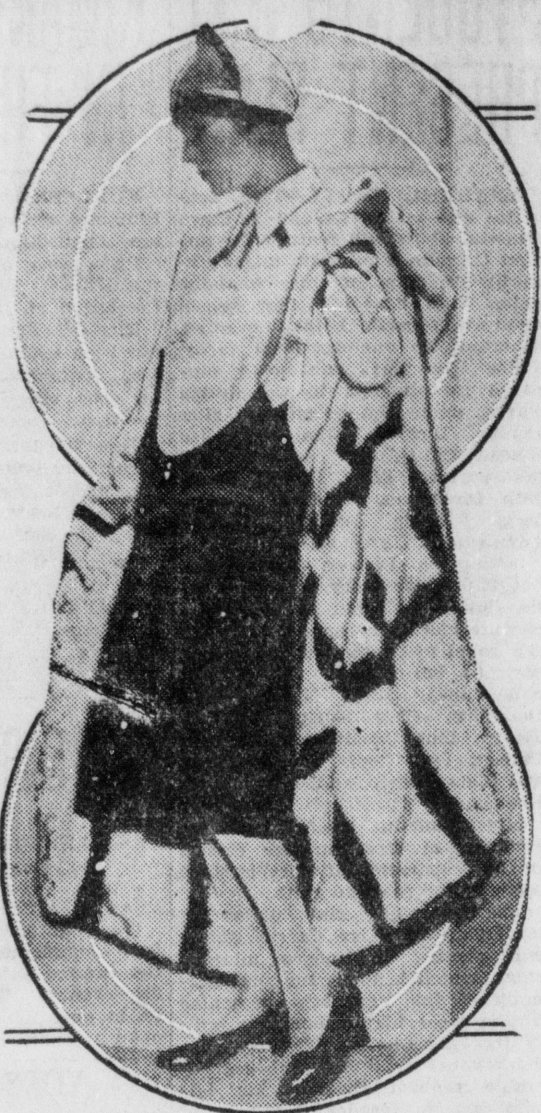

With these are worn elaborate jumpers of very supple lame or soft satin or again in a very fine jersey interwoven with a pattern in gold thread which immediately lends this material an air of refined elegance.

Black velvet trimmed with natural fox fur at the neck, sleeves and on the bottom of the coat, accompanied by an oyster-white jumper, is one of the favorite interpretations of this fashion feature.

Jeanne Lanvin's collection is especially rich in afternoon frocks, easy to wear, but with that touch of distinction which is so eminent to hers.

Black and white has always been and always will be a favored color combination, but whereas years ago black was worn by only more mature women, now young people show a marked preference for it.

It is a far cry from the sombre, unrelieved monotony of the black dress of fifty years ago, of course, and today even the very young girl has at least one black frock in her wardrobe. An ensemble which stands out amongst all others is another creation of Jeanne Lanvin's. It might be said in passing that the more feminine line now adopted is eminently suited to her style.

The model in question is carried out in black woolen material and white marocain, the black forming the slightly flaring skirt and lower half of the blouse, finishing in two points on the white top. The coat had also a slight flare and was entirely lined with black and white fur forming large squares, with a deep collar of the white fur. The color scheme was carried out even to the hat, which had a white crown with a wide rever of black, edged with black velvet.

BEWARE TOO MUCH SELF SACRIFICE

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

A girl was hurt by a fall at a time when life looked most beautiful.

An older sister was engaged to be married. The younger one, the pet of the family, had not decided which of her many suitors she would accept. As it happened, she accepted none, for she became partly paralyzed after her accident.

Her parents died shortly after. There was none but the older sister to try to make up to her what like had taken away. She broke her own engagement, too deeply conscientious to accept from him what it had denied her beautiful sister.

In 15 years, the older sister, then a girl of 25, looked more than 50. The invalid, bitterness added to natural selfishness, had greedily drunk up the sacrifice and drained to the dregs the courage, patience and resource of the other.

Hers was the saddest story as the world interprets human suffering, but it is of the older woman I would write.

She felt more and more guilty about her own strength and good health as the years went by; she denied herself almost every pleasure. Like the self-punishment of priests who lash their bodies to remind themselves that they are sinners.

On a winter trip, taken because she suddenly decided that sea air was the thing she needed, the invalid sister took cold and died. The other had a nervous breakdown, followed by a brain condition for which there is no cure. She had an idea that had she stopped the trip her sister would have lived. She blamed herself for her death.

Such cases are common enough to invite comment. I have seen it in many forms. Wives caring for husbands, children caring for parents, and of course highly exaggerated cases of parents caring for sons!

It takes a level head to fight it, for fight it we should. It does good as a rule neither.

Sick people cannot help becoming selfish after a time. A nurse must keep up morale for both, and one of her first duties is to

GOSSIPS ARE MEANEST PEOPLE

Edgar A. Guest has an article on "Gossip" in a November magazine that I wish could be written in electric letters on the hills.

There is more truth and common sense in it than anything I have ever read, bar none.

To begin with he says that gossip is the meanest habit in the world. Let me quote some of the other good things it in. "A gossip is a public menace, and richly deserves to be muzzled, for a biting, dishonest, human tongue can do more harm than the snapping jaw of a dog."

"A gossip can ruin a reputation, start a run on a bank, break up a church, make neighbors hate one another, shatter the happiness of a town. No man is immune to the serpent-like flashing of a gossip's tongue."

"One great trouble with gossips," he remarks further, "is that they never wait to know facts before repeating something malicious they may hear." Isn't it true? We take the vilest things on mere hearsay and repeat them at a bridge table, merely prefacing it with "I heard." The other three, you may count on it, will repeat it for fact.

Mr. Guest speaks of the dangers to ourselves, of our own unkind tongues. Here is another thing I would like to see in electric letters on the hill: "It is true that some men have dug their graves with their teeth. It is also true that others have dug their social and business graves with their tongues."

To be brief, people talk too much. The smart-Aleck is always in trouble. So is the man who tells too much about his own affairs. The ugly retort is as silly as it is unkind.

The kind remark is seldom repeated. The mean comment is repeated and tattled about from mouth to mouth. We talk an entire evening and what do we remember when we go home? The praise? The sympathy? The items of interest? No! The scandal and the muck! Those are the things we are more likely to repeat, and do.

Scandal does not always mean people. It deals with business—it concerns schools, churches and politics. Anything detrimental to these things if it be untrue, is scandal. And if it is true it is scandal just the same, as long as it passes unproved from one busy mouth to another.

First Travelers Enjoy Christmas Luncheon And Gift Exchange

Fifteen of the seventeen members of Ebeli's first travel section, assembled Monday in the delightful home of the Terry Stephensons, 1522 North Broadway, for their annual Christmas party when program and business matters were foregone, and the entire afternoon devoted to social enjoyment.

Mrs. Stephenson, Mrs. L. L. Shaw and Mrs. M. F. Heathman, shared the pleasure duties of entertaining, and had planned a typical holiday feast for their guest at the 1 o'clock luncheon hour, with turkey as one of the items of the delicious fare. Tables were centered with cut glass bowls filled with small chrysanthemums in mingled yellow and white, flanked by tall Christmas candles.

During the course of the lively afternoon, Mrs. Stephenson substituted for Santa Claus in presiding over an array of packages to which each guest had contributed. Numbers were distributed and packages were drawn until each one present had a charming Christmas gift from some one other member.

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to friendly chat in lieu of the usual formal travel program.

Enjoying the beautiful home, and the hospitality of its "chateau," Mrs. Stephenson, with that of Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Heathman, were the section leader, Mrs. J. P. Baumgartner, the secretary, Mrs. I. W. Van Cleave, Mrs. A. W. Ames, Mrs. J. W. Bishop, Mrs. John E. Goven, Mrs. Charles S. Kendall, Mrs. William E. Otis, Mrs. Stephen Ross, Mrs. William S. Smart, Mrs. E. B. Smith, Mrs. George S. Smith and Mrs. William L. Tubbs.

Parent-Teachers

The December meeting of the Roosevelt P.-T. A. was held yesterday in the kindergarten room of the school with a good attendance of mothers.

On the program Mr. Charles Best gave an interesting talk on the "Romance of Milk." Carrie Kimball pleased her audience with a very pretty dance. Miss Margaret Hannah, director of home service from the Southern Counties Gas company told how to economize on the gas.

Miss Lois Gould sang two beautiful numbers "The Wind's in the South Today" by John Prindle Scott and "The Waters of the Perikomen" by Klickman. After the business was taken care of, tea and wafers were served by the refreshment committee assisted by the kindergarten class mothers.

Balmy Days as You Ride East

[enjoy the delightful trip through the picturesque Southland and romantic Old South]

The colorful route east of Southern Pacific's "Sunset Limited" skirts the nation's southern border. Through California's orange lands; across fertile mesas, broad cattle ranges, Phoenix, El Paso, San Antonio, Houston, and on along the placid bayous of Louisiana to New Orleans.

"Sunset Limited," famed round the world, carries you swiftly and comfortably. Its appointments are superb; comparable to those of a fine hotel or club.

From New Orleans you can continue by train to middle west or eastern points, or by Southern Pacific steamship to New York (meals and berth on the ship included in your fare).

You can go this way and return if you wish over another Southern Pacific route—Golden State Route between Los Angeles, El Paso and Chicago; Overland Route San Francisco, Ogden and Chicago; and Shasta Route to Pacific Northwest and east over northern lines. A choice offered only by Southern Pacific.

The new Sunset Route booklet describes this inviting trip in detail. Ask for a copy and for further particulars. See Apache Trail of Arizona Enroute.

Beauty Chats

By EDNA KENT FORBES

The housewife who wants to cater intelligently for her family must frequently be in despair over such often repeated terms: Vitamins A, B, and C, as iron, calcium phosphorus, etc., all of which must be included in a balanced day's diet, and several of which, in varying quantities, overlap in each separate item of food.

Let us simplify some of these things. True, the body needs iron and calcium and phosphorus, calories, carbohydrates and all the rest of it. But be governed by taste—instinctively we have worked out a diet for ourselves which does us generally—if we have the money to keep a comfortable table. This doesn't mean that taste alone should govern—the child will eat himself ill on sweets, following his taste, the fat woman put on more ounces of flesh daily, following her taste alone—taste must be modified by some common sense.

If each day's diet includes some milk, an egg, some cereal, such as bread or breakfast porridge, some meat, some fat, some sweet, and (this is very important) some fresh fruit or vegetable, the body will function quite properly. Fat and protein can be had from nuts as well as meat. Fresh vegetables are usually rich in protein, but animal protein as well as vegetable protein is generally needed by the body. The safe rule is to err on the side of too much fruits and green vegetables; for one thing, these supply bulk, and the body needs that or constipation will be inevitable. For another, it does not hurt the body to get a large proportion of mineral matter, what does hurt is not to get enough. So make use of lemon and tomato juice in cooking, served steamed or boiled green vegetables, fresh salads and fresh fruit every day.

Ann—The only thing you can do now is to keep all pressure off the bunions so that they will not be irritated and will not become any larger.

Try wearing a large felt ring around each bunion, as these keep the shoe from rubbing against the sore joints.

Disgusted M., Beatrice X.—If you rub a piece of cut cucumber over your freckles every day before you bathe your face it will help to bleach off some of color in your freckles.

Distressed.—When you have the attacks of blind pimples, clear your digestive system by dieting, but do not try to bring the eruption to the surface by pricking the skin and squeezing as you have done. In this way you encourage blemishes and small pits and it will take months to get rid of them. Omit breakfast at such time, and take a whole glassful of orange juice instead.

The Tinies gazed up in the sky, and watched the scooter float on by. "Oh, my, it isn't going to stop," cried Scouty, in despair. "I know that it would give us joy, if we could meet that little toy. I'll bet that he's a soldier who patrols the open air."

The giant then said, "Have no fear here. I guess he's merely doing tricks to try and please you all. Just watch him glide, and see him swoop. He sure knows how to loop the loop. Now wouldn't it be terrible if he should take a fall?"

The Toy Tot kept on flying round. He'd sail down right close to the ground, and then he'd swing back up again and sail just like a bird. The Tinies all were so surprised, they merely stood with open eyes, and watched the funny antics. No one said a single word. They stood and stared an hour or more. Then Clowny cried, "My neck is sore from looking upward toward the sky. I wish that he would land." "Oh, look," said Scouty, mid a fuss, "I think he's looking down at us." And sure enough, the queer Toy Tot leaned out and waved his hand.

And then the Tinies gave a cheer. The scooter dipped and landed near. The bunch ran up to greet the toy, who shouted, "Howdy do!" "Hello, there, soldier lad," said one. "You've treated us to lots of fun. We're mighty glad you've landed safe. But, tell us, who are you?"

The soldier toy then said, "Well, I came from a place up in the sky. It's known as Santa Land, and it is filled with wondrous joys. Old Santa sent me down to see if you would all go back with me. He needs a lot of help this year in making all his toys."

By SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Grapes, cereal, cream, creamed spinach on toast with poached eggs, cinnamon toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Cream of celery soup, toasted crackers, mock lobster salad, rye bread, grape juice, nut cookies.

DINNER—Hot beef loaf, creamed potatoes, buttered parsnips, cabbage and green pepper salad, puff puddings, milk, coffee.

Individual puff puddings provide an ideal way to use up bits of left-over canned fruit. Two tablespoonfuls of fruit are enough for each pudding and one can be made of peaches, one strawberries, one cherries and so on.

Mock Lobster Salad One pound halibut steak, 2 cups strained canned tomatoes, 1-2 cup diced celery, 1 hard cooked egg, 4 stuffed olives, mayonnaise.

Tie fish in cheesecloth and simmer in 4 cups boiling water to which 1 teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon lemon juice have been added. It will take about fifteen minutes to cook the halibut tender. Drain. Place in a dish and pour over tomatoes which have been heated to the boiling point after straining. Let stand four or five hours. When ready to serve, flake fish and combine with celery and mayonnaise. Serve on a bed of lettuce and garnish with slices of hard cooked eggs, olives and snips of pickled beets.

The WOMAN'S DAY

By ALLENE SUMNER

It seems that the public worm is turning. For years and years we have suffered in silence at the hands of commercial competition. We have groaned and borne it to see hills, valleys, flaming woods, blossoming trees along the highways, blotted out by signs advising that hot dogs can be bought 200 feet ahead, barbecued sandwiches on beyond, peppy gas is best, eat sobor for the liver and all the rest. Now, all of a sudden, things are happening.

MINUTE MEN The Minute Men of the Cherry Valley Turnpike, running from Albany to Syracuse, went off on a rampage the other night, and with hatchet and ax and flaming torch, hacked and burned down every advertising sign along the highway and burned them in a huge pile on the town square the next morn.

At STONEHENGE Over in England they got all riled up lately when a poet suddenly discovered that some real estate concern had bought up a huge tract of land adjoining Stonehenge and was about to erect several dozen peas-in-the-pod "model bungalows." But somehow that spectacle doesn't offend me quite so much as the litter along our nation's driveways.

DUMPERS People are cultivating the dumping habit more and more. Were there such mounds of old bed springs, discarded light bulbs, radio batteries, cans and bottles, boxes and old cars, coffee pots and wash boilers along our roads a decade ago? The probable answer is that we have more things to dump nowadays than ever before. One more argument against the complexity of modern life. Seriously, the most neglected problem in every town or city, large or small, is the old can collecting problem, and how they do collect!

A HOBBY "I want a hobby," six women request in the weekly mail. Something to use up time during the long winter days and nights. Here's my idea. As the ads insist, all women want to be popular, the life of the party, et al. Nothing so quickly makes a woman this very thing as the possession of some trick parlor stunt. Why not procure Louise Rice's new book, "Character Reading for Handwriting," and learn the mysteries of judging character by hand-writing? There's almost a year's study here and it's the best book on the subject I have seen.

REAL TWAIN Jack London's unfinished novel, "The Eyes of Asia," is being finished by his widow. Here you have indication of the success of a marriage between people of similar interests and abilities, even if some "progressives" do insist that such a bond is much less strong than any other. It would be interesting to know in how many happy and unhappy marriages one or the other could carry on work left unfinished by the late partner.

CHINESE SPOUSES Rebellious husbands of China have formed a "League for Oppressed Husbands." They deplore the bobbed hair of their women which has done away with the queue, and the fact that husbands are occasionally forced to watch the babies or stoop to menial labor in the kitchen while their wives "step out" to club meetings and such. Well, the boys will have to come to it.

AT THE THEATER

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

A rip-roaring melodrama of the frontier comes to the Yost Broadway theater when "Quicksands," starring Richard Dix opens tonight. The versatile Dix appears as Lieutenant William Lloyd stationed at an isolated army post on the outskirts of civilization. The monotony of the army life in peace times is broken by the presence of a band of smugglers who hold forth from a town not far from the army post. In this town of Deadville, they congregate to plot easy ways of making money.

Life takes on still another interesting angle for the athletic Richard when he meets Marian, the daughter of a rancher on the vicinity. But true love does not run smooth. Marian's refusal to marry him mystifies Dix, until in a raid on Deadville he discovers her to be a habitue of Portuguese Joe's, the place where the smugglers hang out. He believes her to be in league with them, and is on the point of resigning his commission in the army, when the report comes to the post that Farrell has been captured by the smugglers. Dix then learns that Farrell is a government agent and that his daughter Marian has been helping him "get the goods" on the outlaws. Since the colonel cannot send troops to Farrell's aid without sanction from Washington, Dix offers to go alone.

WEST COAST-WALKER Florence Vidor has another winner, a production that shows her in all her beauty and exhibits her talent as a comedienne. It is called "One Woman to Another" and is being shown at the West Coast-Walker theater. Adapted from a stage play by Frances Nordstrom, this is a high society comedy; good entertainment from start to finish.

Theater crowds have not seen Miss Vidor in a comedy for many a moon, and "One Woman to Another" proves most pleasant diversion. It shows the star in a new guise, getting away from her usual highly dramatic roles for at least one picture.

The story, made into a screen play by J. L. Campbell, concerns the romance of Rita Farrell, played by Miss Vidor, and John Bruce, in which role Theodor von Eltz does fine work. When two youngsters are turned over to Rita for safekeeping, their plans to marry are rudely interrupted, and John becomes interested in a blonde. After reading somewhere that gentlemen prefer blondes, Rita and a friend, Olive Gresham (Hedda Hopper) get together and scheme a compromising situation, a plan which will force John to propose immediately. This is just what happens, but the scheme goes awry when Rita's brother, a minister, enters and starts trouble.

Murphy's Comedians AT ORANA Two Miles North of Santa Ana PLAYING ALL THIS WEEK "TOO MUCH MOTHER-IN-LAW" WITH—MURPHY'S ALL-STAR CAST Phone Orange 233 For Reservations Clip This Ad—It Is Good for Two Adult General Admissions

WEST END THEATER Johnny Hines, who has contributed so many hilarious tumbles and falls to his screen work, had a miraculous escape from the real thing during the filming of his latest picture, "Home Made," which is coming to the West End theater next week. The comedian was working at the studio in Hollywood when he remembered that he left a chambermaid's costume at his home, and the costume was necessary for the amusing scene the cameras were about to shoot. Johnny, accompanied by George Amy, his film cutter and editor, jumped in his car and started for his house. Another car suddenly came around the corner, and to avoid a crash, Johnny Hines swerved to one side only to plunge into a telegraph pole.

LIFE'S NICETIES Hints On Etiquette

1. Is it proper for guests to hold conversations with the maid while she is serving a meal?
2. If guests are well known to the family's servants, how can they speak to them when dining?
3. If they know of sickness or trouble in the servants' family, when is it proper to inquire after the afflicted?

THE ANSWERS
1. No, it interrupts service.
2. They may nod pleasantly to her when she first comes in.
3. After dinner, on leaving the dining room.

CAPONE TIRED OF THANKLESS CHICAGO JOB

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—Firmly entrenched once more as dictator of gangland, Al Capone is preparing to leave for St. Petersburg, Fla., for his Christmas vacation.

Gangland was expected to take advantage of his absence to make some minor readjustments in the personnel of its leaders, but Capone's willingness to leave the battleground showed his confidence that the rebellion against him was definitely ended.

The Cicero vice lord assumed a high moral tone in announcing his plans.

"I'm sick of the job of providing liquor and gambling facilities for the amusement of Chicagoans," he said. "Let the worthy citizens of Chicago get their liquor as best they can. It's a thankless job and full of grief."

Capone pointed proudly to his spotless police record, or rather lack of police record, and insisted that crimes of violence were abhorrent to him.

"Today I got a letter from a woman in England," he said. "Even over there, I'm known as a gorilla. She offered to pay my expenses to London if I'd kill some neighbors she'd been having a quarrel with."

"My wife and mother hear a lot about what a terrible criminal I am. I'm sick of it all."

JACK LOCKWELL

"In a way," added the professor, "life is a battle we all have to fight, but the fighter who goes out of his own class almost always takes a whipping that makes him sorry." "I think I understand you, sir," said Jack, a twinkle in his eyes. "Hereafter I'll stay in my class-as far as possible." "The impossible is expected of nobody," said Old Nemesis meaningly.

Leaving the professor's study, Lockwell went to see the doctor who was treating his injured arm. "You're lucky," said the doctor. "It isn't as bad as I thought."

"He's a big faker," said Cub, speaking loudly enough for Lockwell to hear. "He knows he's made a flop as captain of our class team, so he's pretending he's hurt. It's a play for sympathy. That was a little more than Jack could stand. He whirled on his trapezoid. 'You're not only a traitor to your class, Maddox,' he said, 'but you're a common liar!'"

ED WHEELAN'S CREEPY MYSTERY SERIAL AT THE STROKE OF TWELVE

EPISODE THREE

AND NOW THE THREE MEN, MARTIN CASE, THE LAWYER; SAUNDERS, THE BUTLER; AND JAMES ASHE, THE LATE SILAS GRIMM'S NEPHEW, SIT DOWN AND DISCUSS THE STRANGE PHANTOM WHICH SAUNDERS HAS SHOT AT

LET ME GET THIS RIGHT, YOU SAY YOU ACTUALLY SAW THE THING?

YES, SIR. IT WAS WHITE, AND SEEMED TO FLOAT THRU' THE AIR!!

OLD MR. GRIMM WHEN HE WAS ALIVE, SIR, WAS MUCH INTERESTED IN SPIRITUALISM-I BELIEVE HE HELD SEANCES FROM TIME TO TIME IN THAT ROOM HE BUILT ON TOP OF THE HOUSE. SINCE HIS DEATH I'VE HEARD MANY WEIRD SOUNDS BUT I NEVER SAW ANYTHING BEFORE!!

MR. CASE IS FRANKLY UPSET, AND AS HE BIDS GOOD-NIGHT TO ASHE, HE CAUTIONS HIM TO BE ON HIS GUARD

THIS IS A QUEER SORT OF HOUSE THAT YOUR DEAD UNCLE WISHES YOU TO LIVE IN, LAD-BUT I DON'T LIKE THE THOUGHT OF YOU STAYING ON HERE!!

DON'T WORRY ABOUT ME, MR. CASE-IF I MUST DO SO, TO RECEIVE HIS FORTUNE, I'M NOT AFRAID!!

BESIDES I'M NO GREAT BELIEVER IN SPOOKS AND ALL THAT SORT OF STUFF-NOT THAT I DOUBT SAUNDERS'S WORD, BUT I FEAR HE'S JUST AN EMOTIONAL CHAP WITH A VIVID IMAGINATION!!

JAMES ASHE RETIRES AND IS SOON FAST ASLEEP-NOW THE DOOR OF HIS ROOM SLOWLY OPENS AND.....

R. J. THOMPSON

A life marked with good citizenship and kindly deeds was ended when death came to R. J. Thompson. It is not surprising, of course, that one who has lived as many years as it was given to Mr. Thompson to live should pass away. Nevertheless, his death cannot fail to bring regret and sorrow to all of those who knew him at all intimately—regret and sorrow that men like Mr. Thompson must go.

One looks back upon the life of Mr. Thompson and knows that always he was a man of honor, a sincere and active church member, that honesty and integrity marked his dealings with his fellow men and his private and home life as well as his public life.

For some years, following a life of many years of usefulness in the communities where he lived before he came to California, Mr. Thompson served Santa Ana as a city councilman. Those who were in touch with the affairs of the city at that time remember well that all things with which Mr. Thompson, as a public official, came in contact were dealt with by him with the fairest of motives and with good judgment.

OUR HEROES OF YESTERDAY

Every now and then we hear of some hero who was the idol of yesterday coming to some inglorious end. The latest one so unfortunate is Abraham Krotoshinsky. He was the man who saved the last battalion in the last war. The story of the last battalion will go down in American history with the story of the capture of Major Andre during the American Revolution, with the storming of Ball's Bluff by Col. Baker in the Civil war, and with the blocking of the channel of Santiago by Capt. Hobson in the Spanish war.

The Lost Battalion under the late ill-fated Col. Whittlesy was separated from the main army, and was surrounded completely by the Germans. The memorable answer of Col. Whittlesy when called upon to surrender has become one of the notable phrases of history. The battalion was finally relieved by the daring of this man with the marked foreign name, Abraham Krotoshinsky. He was granted the distinguished Service Medal by a grateful and an appreciative nation. On last Thanksgiving Day he and his wife and two little children were destitute. He has been out of work for a long time, and there were no resources to give Thanksgiving cheer. The family was not found by the many charitable agencies which try to make every one happy in this rich and prosperous country on Thanksgiving Day. The hero of yesterday was forgotten by a grateful nation which ten years ago sang his praises.

So it has often been. Mr. Dooley, our genial humorist, wrote at one time that people erect memorial arches to their heroes that they may have bricks to throw at them the next day. This is serious humor. The kiss of a silly girl pulled Capt. Hobson from his heroic pedestal. Admiral Dewey was received as no conquering hero was ever received, after his capture of Manila. A year later everybody was throwing stones at him because he married a wife, and deeded to her a house in Washington which had been given to the hero of Manila by admiring friends. It appears that the cause of this change is more in the fickleness of the people than it is in any defect of the heroes. There is something to be said for the remark that Republicans have ever been ungrateful. But it need not be limited to Republicans.

THE PRESIDENT HELPS BOULDER DAM

Certainly there is no reason why the Boulder Dam legislation will not be enacted at this session of Congress. The needs are imperative. Congress is reasonably for it, the President has come out in clear and emphatic terms on its behalf. He uses the following words:

"Legislation is desirable for the construction of a dam at Boulder Canyon on the Colorado river, primarily as a method of flood control and irrigation. A secondary result would be a considerable power development and a source of domestic water supply for Southern California. Flood control is clearly a national problem, and water supply is a government problem, but every other possibility should be exhausted before the Federal government becomes engaged in the power business. The states which are interested ought to reach mutual agreement. This project is in reality their work. If they wish the Federal government to undertake it, they should not hesitate to make the necessary concessions to each other. This subject is fully discussed in the annual report of the Secretary of the Interior."

With this statement the legislation should be assured. To be sure there is one condition in this statement that keeps it from being as clear as it might and that is in relation to the power development at Boulder Dam. The President suggests that this is a matter for the states to handle, and not for the Federal government. This is unquestionably true but the President hints at the very palpable duty of the Federal government, providing the states do not get together on the project, that then it will be necessary for the Federal government to do so. Otherwise all that the enemies of the Boulder Dam project would need to do would be to have some state, as Arizona is doing, refuse to become a part of the pact and the defeat of the enterprise would be certain.

We believe that this should be cleared up. Upon Congress rests the responsibility to act even in case of the failure of the states to get together. To build a dam that would adequately insure against possibility of flood and store the necessary amount of water for that purpose and for irrigating purposes without going a little farther and constructing a power plant to utilize the potentialities of this dam would be little short of criminal.

New conditions teach new duties. While it is probable that private capital could develop this power efficiently and distribute it with profit to the consumers through the southwest, the necessary legislation to this end would be indefinitely more difficult to pass than any law to keep the control in the hands of the states or the Federal government. In other words we might just as well face the bald fact that, owing to the Federal law governing the control of the Colorado river and the provisions in the charter admitting Arizona as a state, none but the Federal government can act upon the project except under the provisions of legislation enacted by Congress.

We believe it would be preferable, if possible, to have private capital develop this water power providing that such a huge development in private hands could be so regulated and the cost and other elements determined and limitations placed thereon as to give the citizens the great benefit that nature itself has here in store for them. But this is merely an academic question. In the present state of public mind it is utterly impossible and to argue in favor of it or insist upon it as the only method is to simply argue for the delay and defeat of the Boulder Dam enterprise.

However, there is no objection to the flood control and the irrigation parts of the proposed plan and with that much assured the totality ought to be reasonably certain.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is asked by Pullman porters to abolish tips. But George, old boy, you don't have to accept 'em, you know.

The best orators nowadays don't orate.

Whittling

Imperial Valley Press

It may be merely another of those apocryphal tales that always spring up around the White House, but it sounds plausible and carries an appeal to any old-fashioned American.

President Coolidge, it is said when asked recently what he was going to do on the expiration of his term, replied that he expected to "go back to Vermont and whittle for a year or two."

In how many countries will that be understood? Not in many, we fear, without elaborate explanations. Even the present generation of Americans has to think back a little to recall the time when whittling leisurely with a jackknife was associated unfailingly with thoughtful and fruitful meditation, and when cartoons of Uncle Sam represented him often as a farmer sitting on a rail fence, whittling a soft stick.

There is much virtue in whittling, whether the whittler really makes anything or merely watches the shavings curl up from his knife blade and fall to the ground. One of the main things wrong today with this country is that people have forgotten how to whittle. Perhaps they still whittle in Vermont. Mr. Coolidge's reputed words seem to imply that, for he is an orthodox Vermont.

There is no more fruitful vocation for a rural sage, or for a retired salesman, or a statesman merely resting and cogitating between jobs. It may be better than fishing. The whittler is likely to be a little more constructive than the fisherman.

Hopeless People

Pomona Progress-Bulletin

The past fifteen months have seen a string of calamities setting people adrift from their homes. Starting in with the Florida hurricane of September, 1925, including the terrible Mississippi flood and destructive floods in New England, also tornadoes and hurricanes, this short period has turned many thousands of people loose without shelter over their heads.

Even if such people have plenty of money in banks and securities, so that their physical discomforts will not be prolonged, something is gone out of their lives that cannot be replaced. Old family heirlooms, articles of no value to anyone else, but having dear family associations, are swallowed up in the destruction. Letters and souvenirs by which they trace their history are forever gone. Any family feels that kind of a break with its past.

But with the great majority of homeless people the loss is most disastrous. Many thousands of these people lose their all in such calamities. Such misfortunes are very apt to strike particularly hard at the homes of the poor. Their houses are usually built in the least substantial way, they are apt to be located in low spots where floods can sweep them away. The condition of a family with no home, no shelter from the cold wind, no food and no money, is the limit of pathos. It is not surprising that such folks feel about ready to give up and quit.

All these are not the only homeless people. Our terrible fire loss constantly turns people out into the streets with everything they valued destroyed. All sorts of individual calamities turn people out of their homes. The homeless element, made shelterless without any blame on their part, is always considerable, and they should have the most friendly consideration from the rest of us in our comfortable dwellings.

Health Topics

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor of Journal of American Medical Association

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of three articles by Dr. Fishbein on mental defects and mental hygiene.

CONTROL OF MENTALLY DEFECTIVE HUGE TASK

Educators realize that the most pressing problem of today in relation to health is the control of the mentally defective. There are today more hospital beds in the United States, more institutional rooms for persons suffering with mental defects, than for any other group in the population.

Heredity Leads

An analysis of mental diseases indicates that bad heredity is responsible for about 35 per cent of the cases; alcohol and narcotics for anywhere from 10 to 15 per cent; the social disease, syphilis, for about 10 per cent, and general causes, such as bad mental training, disturbances of the glands, injuries and infectious diseases, for the remainder.

On Jan. 1, 1924, there were about 335,000 patients with mental diseases in American hospitals. This means about one person in every 300 in the United States was in a hospital for mental disease.

Each year more than 50,000 people are admitted to hospitals for the insane.

When the figures are estimated, it is found that the average cost of maintaining such a patient per year is approximately $244, making an annual cost of state hospitals about $75,000,000, and the average loss of earning power about $240,000,000.

In another manner of expression of figures, it is pointed out that the cost is about as much to take care of the mentally defective as it is to educate persons in colleges and universities.

MIDDLE-AGE

I'm not getting any richer in the sense of minted gold. But the days are getting richer with the pleasures which they hold. For the joy of living deepens with the passing of the years. And man seems to get his bearing as his middle-age appears. Oh, I've had my share of trouble, I have sipped life's bitter cup. But the home is filled with laughter now the kids are growing up!

I have done with youthful pleasures, but I've turned to other things. And there's not a day God gives me but some interest it brings! There is something to be watched for, there is something just ahead—

A friend who may be coming, or a new book to be read, Or a game the boy is playing or a task I want to do— That I find a thrill in living in a world that's ever new.

So I give no sigh for pleasures that have lost their lure for me. Does it matter I'm no longer young as once I used to be? That my baseball days are over is a fact I long have known. But this life in place of baseball gives me other joys to own. And I come to every morning with some new delight in store. And I'll swear I'm just as happy as I ever was before.

Berlin's Empty Cradles

Whenever a Frenchman contemplated his mighty neighbor on the other side of the Rhine, it always gave him the shivers to think of the low birthrate in France compared with the very high one in Germany. To this way of thinking Germany was producing three future soldiers to every one France was rearing and the outlook was indeed bleak.

But the latest figures about Berlin, the continent's biggest capital, should give Frenchmen heart of hope. Berlin, like all the rest of the world, is feeling the pinch of the high cost of living and the scarcity of houses. The result is that the birthrate has been steadily dropping. Not only that—the deaths have exceeded the births. In other words as one German weekly put it:

"If it were not for the influx of newcomers from outside, Berlin would be a dying town. Every year would see it growing smaller and smaller."

It's the old story repeated in Berlin as in Paris and London and New York. Life is so hard and so strenuous in the great capitals that small families or no families are becoming the rule. The cities recruit their fresh population from outside.

Little Benny's
Note Book

by Lee Page

Me and Puds Simkins was wawking along jest wawking along, and we saw some man looking around on the payment like somebody that lost something and couldn't find it.

Being a little man big around the stummick, me saying to Puds, G, I wonder if he dropped a dime, why don't you ask him?

Wich Puds did, saying, Did you lose a dime, mister? and the man saying, I wish it had been meer money, meer money can always be replaced, O deer how could I of bin so careless?

Puds whispering to me, G, he must of dropped a diamond ring. O boy big reward.

And him and me started to help the man to look, helping him so hard he pritty near tripped over us a couple of times, on account of us trying to look everywhere he looked so we would see it before he did, me saying, Is there a reward out, mister?

A reward? Why yes, I'd be only too pleased to pay a suitable reward, in case you should find it, the man sed.

Giving me and Puds encouragement and ambition, and we started to look even harder, thinking, G, hermy, and the man sed, Im sure Im very glad to have your help, young people often have very sharp eyes, but at the same time I do wish you would try to keep from under my feet. O well, I suppose its useless to look any more, anyway, it must of slipped down some crack or other, it was sutch a very tiny button, he sed.

A button, G wizzlekies mister, is that wat it was, a button? I sed, and he sed, Why yes my wife needs a duzen exactly like it, and wen I go home without them Im afraid she will be quite vexed, well, Im afraid I must give up.

And he wawked away shaking his hed sad, and me and Puds locked for the button a while longer jest for the satisfaction of jumping on it in case we found it, wich we dident.

CURRENT COMMENT

By CHESTER H. ROWELL

MUSSOLINI is out again in one of his periodic blusters defying all mankind and threatening trouble. The League of Nations will of course do its best to stop the disturbance, and will probably succeed. It is our confidence in this result that makes us so unexcited. We are, after all, pretty good League partisans. But if this outbreak should unfortunately prove too much for the still incomplete League, then we will all hope that it can at least be isolated, and that its consequences will fall heaviest on those who would not cease from troubling. If the whole penalty could fall on Mussolini himself, and on a few Balkan dictators, without being imposed on their people, one could almost welcome an explosion. Unfortunately it is the people who suffer, and the world will therefore rightly put up with a great deal from Mussolini, rather than visit his sins on the Italian people.

C. C. HIEATT, President of the National Association of Realty Boards, made an argument at San Diego, against the inheritance or estate tax which had the rare merit of frankness. Mr. Hieatt is opposed to the tax entirely, whether enacted by state or by nation, as an unfair capital levy on the accumulations of wealth, but if it must be imposed, he prefers that it be by the Federal government, which will at least be uniform and will probably be moderate in its burdens, rather than by the states, which may occasionally be arbitrary and confiscatory. He calls on the State Tax commission to study the subject, and to seek other sources of taxes on the living in place of this tax on the dead.

ONE may not agree with this conclusion, but it is at least straightforward and intelligible and rational arguments can be made for it. But this is not the position and these are not the arguments presented by the opponents of the estate tax on their recent subsidized junket to Washington. There they all pretended to be defending the right of the states to reserve this tax as a source of state revenue, without the invasion of double taxation by the national government. This, too, would have been a rational position, provided they had meant it. But they did not. What they were defending was not the right of the states to assess this tax, but precisely the right not to assess it. Their object was to keep the Federal law was not that it took away from the states a revenue which they wanted to collect, but, rather, that it created a situation in which, in self-defense, they had to collect it. This position, which is also a rational, though probably an incorrect one, is the view upheld by Mr. Hieatt. The difference is that he does it frankly and they did it unfrankly.

THE attitude of the State Department toward the recent publication of documents alleged to have been stolen from the Mexican archives, is a curious reversal of policy. A few months ago the department was fulminating accusations against Mexico so fantastic that we all thought them impossible. When we laughed at them the department spluttered, but offered no proof, and nobody believed the ghost-dreams. Now come documents which, if genuine, appear on their face to confirm even the most extreme of the wild statements for which we all derided Mr. Kellogg. And, instead of welcoming this vindication—if it is one, as it is if the documents are genuine—the state department ignores the whole exposure, and tacitly accepts the Mexican government's explanation that the documents are forgeries.

OF COURSE the State department may be limited in part by the fact that its own archives were rifled a few months ago, and the thieves offered some extremely embarrassing documents to the Mexican government. Our government denounced the documents as forgeries, and the Mexican government formally accepted our disclaimer. Naturally, we can do no less for them. It is like the story of the widow who said at her husband's grave, "in all the forty-two years of our married life, we never had a difference or a disagreeable word." On the way home a neighbor remarked "I wish I could say that." "You can," answered a friend. "She did."

Grass O'er the Fence

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS

HOW true all through life it is that "The grass over the fence always looks greener!" The other fellow's pasture seems so much more tempting than our own. It may be true that it is, or it may not. At any rate it's a sad state to be in, to be constantly discontented with what we have. We have to be careful to differentiate between ambition and discontent. Teach your child to fix his aim on a definite worth while thing and work for it, that he may not be hanging unhappily over the other fellow's fences while ignoring his own opportunities.

OUR moo-cow

Walks in deep grass
Up to her knees
But somehow
She's a finicky lass
Most hard to please

The clover
She hardly chews
But over
The fences she'll reach
Mooing loud "Moo."

For somehow
The grass o'er the fence,
So it would seem,
Looks sweeter, more dense,
To moo-cow
Tempting and green!
